469 Of 485 Saved From Burning Ship

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The Coast Guard said 469 passengers and crew members were rescued today from the cruise ship Viking Princess after it was swept by fire off the eastern tip of Cuba. The ship carried a total of 485 persons. One person was reported dead, 16 unaccounted for. The Coast Guard said the German freighter Cap Nort had picked up 376 survivors and one body. The Liberian tanker Navigator had 80 survivors and the Chungking Victory, a Nationalist Chinese freighter, 13. Among the survivors were the cruise ship's captain, chief navigator and chief officer, the Coast Guard said. The captain of the Cap Nort radioed that he was taking those rescued to the U.S. Navy base at Guantanamo Bay, Cuba, and expected to arrive around 11:30 a.m. (EST). Most of the passengers were U.S. citizens. It was under the command of Capt. Otto Thoresen, a veteran of 30 years at sea. Two U.S. Navy destroyers, the Wilkenson and Owens, were reported on the scene by Atlantic Fleet Headquarters at Norfolk, Va. Three other ships were en route. Fire struck the 536-foot motor ship as it was sailing north through the Windward Passage, about midway between Cuba and Haiti. "The only ship we have talked to is the Cap Nort," a Coast Guard spokesman said in Miami. "The only message we received was 'Fire in the engine room. All stations stand by'." The Viking Princess boasted 100 per cent air conditioning, two outdoor tiled swimming pools, a 275-seat theater, and plush dining facilities. It has a total of 228 cabins of five decks providing accommo-sons from that disaster, which set off a lengthy Coast Guard probe and congressional hearings on the safety of cruise ships sailing from U.S. ports. The Coast Guard investigation concluded that the captain of the Yarmouth Castle, which flew the Panamanian flag, was negligent and failed to cope with the fire. The Viking Princess is of Norwegian registry and manned by a predominately Norwegian crew. It is operated by the Flagship Line Agency, Inc., sales agent for Berge Sigval Bergesen of Oslo, Norway. The Viking Princess left Miami last Saturday and apparently was headed back to Florida.

U.S. Cavalry Claims 438 Reds Killed

Platoon Virtually Wiped Out In Fight In Cambodian Area

SAIGON, South Viet Nam (AP) — The U.S. 1st Cavalry, Airmobile Division raised its toll of Communist dead to 438 today in Operation Lincoln on the Cambodian frontier after virtually wiping out a reinforced Viet Cong platoon. The cavalrymen, sweeping around the Chu Phong Mountains 220 miles north of Saigon for two weeks, caught 30 to 40 Reds by surprise Thursday and killed 29 in a brisk fight. Other American troops accounted for at least 15 Viet Cong killed near Tuy Hoa as the war continued on the ground and in the air despite continued street demonstrations in Saigon and antigovernment unrest in the northern provinces. Navy fighter-bombers from the 7th Fleet carriers Enterprise and Hancock caught 34 North Vietnamese cargo junks in open coastal waters Thursday.

Possible Setback In Space Program

Space Experts Sift Data As Centaur Rocket Fails

CAPE KENNEDY, Fla. (AP) — Space agency officials combed through bundles of data today in search of why a Centaur rocket failed to properly ignite a second time Thursday night, causing a possible setback in the U.S. man-in-space program. The failure showed that U.S. scientists have not yet proved they can tame liquid hydrogen fuel in space — a concept which this nation must realize before it can commit astronauts to go to the moon, send heavy payloads to the planets or soft-land instruments on the moon the year around. As engineers wrestled with the problem, the National Aeronautics and Space Administration went ahead with plans today to launch an Orbiting Astronomical Observatory at 2:36 p.m. (EST). The shot has been postponed five times. After a flawless countdown the problem-plagued Centaur — already more than three years behind schedule — thundered aloft from Cape Kennedy Thursday night. An Atlas booster successfully propelled the hydrogen-fueled Centaur upper stage 88 miles above the earth, where the Centaur's two engines burned for 325 seconds and placed it and a dummy surveyor soft-lander moonship into a planned 100-mile-high parking orbit around the earth. After a 25-minute coasting period in this orbit, Centaur was to have ignited a second time, burn 107 seconds and hurl the dummy spacecraft to a make-believe moon 236,000 miles from earth. Instead, NASA said, apparently only one of Centaur's two 15,000-pound-thrust engines ignited. It only burned 17 seconds and kicked both the surveyor model and the Centaur into an oval-shaped orbit of 101 to 186 miles. Officials intend first to look at data concerning the start of the second burn — such as whether or not engine pressure was adequate or the fuel was properly settled. When U.S. astronauts fly to the moon, a much larger liquid-hydrogen rocket stage must coast from one to three orbits around the earth as the third stage of the Saturn 5 moon rocket. This booster will have to restart — as Centaur was scheduled to do — and hurl the astronauts toward the moon. Scientists must master the quirks of liquid hydrogen, however, before officials will send men on the moon mission. The next unmanned launch of a Saturn 1B rocket from Cape Kennedy will carry a liquid-hydrogen stage into orbit about July 18 in another test of the concept.

Mob Beats 12 Yanks In Viet Capital

5 Servicemen, 2 Vietnamese Women Injured By Grenade

SAIGON (AP) — Buddhist monks led 2,000 demonstrators into the heart of Saigon tonight in the worst day of anti-American violence in seven days of rioting. A dozen Americans were beaten, manhandled or chased by the mob. Five U.S. servicemen and two Vietnamese women were injured slightly by a grenade lobbed into a soft drink stand at Starcom, a U.S. communications center in west Saigon. As the column of jeering, banner-waving youths surged downtown from the Buddhist Institute in the southwestern part of the capital, fully armed government paratroopers backed away. But riot police eventually waded into the mob, lobbing tear gas grenades and scattering the demonstrators in side streets. There, the angry youths formed knots again, and there was every indication of another night-long rampage to force the overthrow of military government. The demonstrators looted a home occupied by several American servicemen opposite the Buddhist Institute. They tore up furniture and drove six U.S. servicemen into the streets (Turn to POLITICAL, Page 3)

To Sign Medicare Extension LBJ Will Attend Services Today

BULLETIN
SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson said today he will ask Congress next year to increase all Social Security benefits and to consider extending some medicare-type benefits to the very young. WASHINGTON (AP) — Congress was scattered across the country today, taking home November election ammunition instead of Easter eggs. The first long recess of the year — 10 days for the House, almost a week for the Senate — began with sendoffs notably political in tone from spokesmen for both parties. "I can't see an issue the Republicans have raised that I consider a good political issue," remarked House Democratic Leader Carl Albert of Oklahoma. But Rep. Melvin R. Laird of Wisconsin, Chairman of the House Republican Conference, said the issue is "cost of living increases and inflation." "Our problem is there are so many issues," Laird said in an interview. The House Republican leader, Rep. Gerald R. Ford of Michigan, accused the Democratic-dominated Congress of "a wild spending spree" that has brought on "the strong possibility of an income tax increase. "It's claimed this is one of the hardest working of all Congresses," Ford said. "I say the hardest work is being done in certain major committees by those Democrats intent on inflating already bloated administration spending requests." Albert called a news conference Thursday to say that members can go home "with great pride" in the accomplishments of the session — and that these accomplishments, including the passage of important administration bills, are the Democrats' best political assets. Democratic incumbents include 71 first-termers who have had less than two years to dig in with the electorate. "Anybody who is running against someone who contributed to that record is running against success," Albert said. He shrugged off any idea that the congressional campaign, in which all 435 House seats and 34 of the Senate posts are at stake, will be dominated by the issue (Turn to JOHNSON, Page 3)

Crash Hurts 4 As Route 7 Turns Slick

Patrol Closes Road For 2 Hours When Snow Slows Traffic

Heavy snow squalls made district roads extremely hazardous late Thursday night and early today, forcing the closing of Route 7 for over two hours and causing a collision in which four members of a Youngstown family were hurt. The Ohio Highway Patrol at Lisbon ordered Route 7 from the intersection with Route 30 to Rogers closed from 12:15 to 3:30 a.m. to permit cinder trucks to work the area and to straighten tangled traffic. A car operated by Robert Graff, 33, of Youngstown was pinned between a skidding truck trailer and another rig about three miles north of Route 30 about 12:30 a.m. Injured were the driver, who received abrasions of the leg; his wife, Carolyn, 28, who had chest and back injuries; Barbara, 5, who suffered a bruise of the head, and Roberta, 1, who had a concussion. Because the road from the south was blocked with stalled traffic and was icy, an ambulance was summoned from East Palestine to the north to take the injured to Salem City Hospital, officers said. Graff, headed south, had stopped (Turn to TRAFFIC, Page 7)

Prelude To Easter Sunday Christians Around World Observing Good Friday

By The Associated Press
Christians observed the most sorrowful day in the church calendar today with Good Friday services around the world. The beginning of the Easter week-end also brought the annual exodus of holidaygoers. Thousands of pilgrims streamed into Rome and the Holy Land for observances commemorating Christ's death on the cross. The mournful rites, in the closing days of Holy Week and the long austerity of Lent, were a prelude to the joyous celebrations of the resurrection on Easter Sunday. Pope Paul VI was to lead thousands of Roman Catholics in a Good Friday Mass at the Basilica of St. Mary Major. During the service the pontiff, his shoes removed, lies prostrate before a slowly unveiled crucifix. In the ancient Roman Colosseum, where once martyrs were thrown to the lions, the Pope will lead a torchlit procession tonight tracing Christ's journey to the cross. The ceremony traditionally includes 14 brief pauses in the procession for prayer and meditation. Worshipers in the Jordanian sector of Jerusalem thronged to the Church of the Holy Sepulcher, traditionally held as the site of the Savior's crucifixion, burial and resurrection. Pilgrims re-enacted the Way of the Cross procession, walking in the footsteps of Christ from the site of Pontius Pilate's fortress to Calvary. Calvary is now a balcony inside the church (Turn to GOOD FRIDAY, Pg. 3)

Congress Scatters

Political Tones Marking Recess

SAN ANTONIO, Tex. (AP) — President Johnson, home in Texas and bustling with energy, hurriedly arranged two public appearances for today — signing of a medicare extension bill and attendance at Good Friday services at an 18th century cathedral. Both civic and church officials in this tourist-thronged city — the scene for both events — were caught by surprise when Johnson announced upon arrival late Thursday that he had planned the appearances while flying from Washington. The President, Mrs. Johnson and their two daughters, Lynda and Luci, are spending the Easter holiday at their ranch home 60 miles north of San Antonio. The medicare legislation extends until May 31 the deadline for citizens 65 and older to sign up for voluntary $3-a-month insurance covering most doctor bills and some other medical expenses. About a million people failed to sign for the insurance before the original March 31 deadline. Johnson chose as the site for the bill-signing ceremony a new nine-story apartment project for the elderly. The 220 residents of the federally financed building have an average age of 75. The Good Friday service on Johnson's schedule is at the Roman Catholic Cathedral of the Holy Spirit. (Turn to CONGRESS, Page 6)

Kidnaper Can Now Get $45,000 Ransom

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — The kidnaper of Daniel Goldman could now collect $45,000 for the boy's safe return. The youth's parents, Mr. and Mrs. Aaron Goldman, say they have the $25,000 ransom money ready, friends have raised $15,000 and the Miami Herald has offered $5,000 for his safe return. Goldman, 18, was kidnaped from his parents' home in the exclusive suburb of Surfside March 28. Police say the kidnaper has failed to make contact with the family.

Another Fine Assessed In Hancock Raid

The fourth person arrested in raiding operations Saturday night by West Virginia State Police on Hancock County nightclubs was fined a total of $200 and costs by Squire Thomas Bellanco of Weirton Thursday. Mrs. Josephine R. Zagula of New Cumberland, owner of the Club Daily Double, was fined $100 for possession of gambling devices and $50 on each charge of possession and sale of liquor. Two slot machines and nine bottles of liquor had been seized by the troopers at the establishment, located north of New Cumberland. She pleaded "no contest," as did Art Lewis, arrested as the owner of the Paddock Club, in the "Strip" on Route 30, and Anthony Perrotti of Wheeling, cited as the bartender, in earlier hearings conducted Tuesday. Lewis and Perrotti were fined a total of $200 on similar charges. All the above hearings originally had been scheduled for next Saturday, but were held earlier upon the request of the defendants. Another person arrested by the detachment of 13 troopers Saturday was Dominic D. Foglietti, owner of the Tally - Ho Club, on Route 2 about 1.3 miles north of Weirton. Foglietti was fined $200 by Squire Bellanco the same night.

Driver Injures Back When Car Overtakes

A Warren woman escaped serious injury when her car overturned on Route 45 just inside the Wellsville city limits at 6 a.m. today. Wellsville police said Miss Carol Jean Henson, 23, lost control of her compact model car on the slippery pavement. The car overturned, rolled over the edge of the hillside and came to rest against a tree. Miss Henson, a teacher in schools at St. Albans, W. Va., was en route home. She was treated at City Hospital for contusions of the back.

Ellis Held Qualified As Judge Candidate

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Ohio Supreme Court held unanimously today in a special decision that William R. Ellis was qualified as a candidate for the Republican nomination for common pleas judge in Mahoning County. The election board had ruled Ellis off the ballot because his declaration of candidacy omitted the name of the county. The court held that since there was only one contest for a term starting next Jan. 2 in Mahoning County, that Ellis "has sufficiently complied with the statutory requirements." where they were manhandled. Vietnamese paratroopers who arrived at the scene laughed and joked with the demonstrators as the U.S. soldiers made their way through the crowd carrying a few personal belongings.

U.S. military police jeeps stationed nearby drove them to safety.

A short time before, a mob of 500 youths assaulted two Americans, one of them a serviceman, and chased a U.S. sailor into a house near the Buddhist Institute. There was no word of any injuries to the Americans.

The mob also overturned and set fire to a police jeep and tossed two dud grenades.

Some club-wielding youths pulled an unidentified American civilian from a taxi in front of the institute earlier in the day, and beat him. He fled with unknown injuries.

It was the second day of personal violence against Americans.

The demonstrators hurled insults at foreign newsmen. Monks restrained them from kicking and hitting newsmen with sticks.

Reporters also were confronted by American military police who said they were under orders from the U.S. Embassy to move all American newsmen from the streets. In one case, MPs drew pistols on newsmen to keep them from the scenes of violence.

While the demonstrators defied riot police, a report circulated that Saigon's Tan Son Nhut Airport, nerve center for U.S. and Vietnamese airpower, had been placed on a red alert, the highest state of combat readiness.

U.S. officials in Saigon were unable to confirm the report immediately.

The demonstrators were in a menacing and dangerous mood, more so than the youngsters and street urchins who have formed some of the mobs that have brought the capital to a point of high tension in the past week.

Some waved banners declaring, "We want freedom." Then riot police stormed in, throwing the crowd back and recovering the jeep before it was completely destroyed. The youths replied with a barrage of rocks.

The grenades were tossed at police at two different intersections. Neither exploded. But it was the first time the demonstrators have resorted to explosives.

Unlike past demonstrators who wanted their photographs taken, the mob threatened Western photographers and newsmen. Government riot squads also took a tough attitude toward the Western press.

Rep. Moore Reveals New Dam Proposal

The recommendation will go to the chief of Army Engineers who will in turn submit a report to West Virginia Gov. Hulett C. Smith and government agencies for their comment.

The project has not yet been authorized by Congress and no funds have been allocated.

Brezhnev Set Again As Red Party's Chief

MOSCOW (AP) — Leonid I. Brezhnev was re-elected unanimously today to head the Soviet Communist party as the party ended an 11-day congress which brought little change in policies or leadership.

Brezhnev announced to the closing Kremlin session of the party's 23rd congress that he had been chosen party general secretary, the most important job in the Soviet Union.

The congress changed the title from first secretary, which Brezhnev had been since the ouster of Nikita S. Khrushchev in October 1964. General secretary was Stalin's title.

The party's two key groups, the Politburo that sets policy for the party and the Secretariat that carries it out, retained practically the same members as before the election earlier today by the Central Committee.

The nearly 5,000 delegates to the congress chose the Central Committee Thursday.

The politburo, the former Presidium which the congress reverted to its Stalin-era name, was reduced from 12 to 11 members by the retirement of former Soviet Premier Anastas I. Mikoyan and Nikolai M. Shvernik, and the addition of Arvid J. Pelshe, a leader of the Communist party in Latvia.

The order in which Brezhnev announced names of Politburo members after his own indicated their ranking, although nothing specific was said about relative importance within the new 11-man body.

Brezhnev named Premier Alexei N. Kosygin, President Nikolai V. Podgorny, party ideologist Mikhail A. Suslov, Gennady I. Voronov, Andrei P. Kirilenko, Alexander N. Shelepin, first deputy premiers Kirill T. Mazurov and Dmitry S. Polyansky, Pyotr Y. Shelest and Pelshe.

This seemed to some non-Communist observers to indicate a possible slip in Shelpin's importance. He has been one of the most closely watched members of the party leadership.

Ohio Man, 25, Killed When Car Overturns

BARDSTOWN, Ky. (AP) — Paul Allen Chandler, 25, of Vermilion, Ohio, was killed today on the Bluegrass Parkway in Nelson County.

State police said Chandler apparently went to sleep while driving alone. The car struck a bridge abutment, overturned and burned.

Hotels, convents, hostels and private homes were packed to overflowing with about 25,000 Christians from places as far away as San Francisco and Tokyo, Sweden and South Africa.

In Jerusalem, for the first time since the Communist revolution nearly 50 years ago, a delegation of eight Soviet priests came from the Soviet Union to walk in the steps of Christ, mourn His crucifixion and rejoice at His resurrection.

Eastern and Western Christian communities are celebrating Easter at the same time this year for the first time in three years. The Church of the Holy Sepulcher, which is shared by five sects, was the scene Thursday of several Holy Thursday processions carried out with split-second timing to allow all to worship within the rambling chapels and crypts.

President Johnson flew from Washington to his ranch at Johnson City, Tex., to spend Easter weekend with Mrs. Johnson and their two daughters. He planned to attend Good Friday services at the historic San Fernando Cathedral in San Antonio. The church was a focal point in the 1836 Texas war for independence from Mexico.

In churches across the land traditional services included the reading of the Passion narrative, sacred music and observances of the Stations of the Cross. Most services last three hours, the length of time Jesus was on the cross until He died.

In an unusual program at the Broadway United Church of Christ in New York, the Rev. Malcolm Boyd was to recite prayers concerned with modern problems while Charlie Byrd, a jazz musician and classical guitarist, provided guitar accompaniment.

At Fort Lauderdale, where some 7,500 were expected, police arrested eight persons after breaking up a crowd that was blocking traffic.

Mexican banks, schools and businesses were closed as thousands of tourists poured into Veracruz, Tampico, Monterrey and Acapulco. Railroads added extra runs from Mexico City to accommodate an estimated 250,000 persons heading for resorts.

of cuts in federal spending versus a possible tax increase.

The Republican conference met a day earlier to brief members on the minority leadership's view of the Johnson administration. They were given background material on what Republicans consider especially vulnerable examples of government spending in such fields as public buildings and the poverty program.

Summing up the discussions, Laird said, "the issue will be inflation — by November the American people will be referring to it as a tragedy."

Republicans, he said, will be presenting a 5 per cent increase in cost of living during the past two years as "the Johnson-Humphrey 5 per cent sales tax — the cruelest, most regressive tax of all" and picturing Social Security checks slashed by rising prices.

Richard Severs, son of Robert Severs of Lycia Ave., Chester, was treated for a laceration of the top of the head after he bumped a truck beam.

Mrs. Marie Cameron of 419 Washington St., Newell, suffered a sprained left knee in a fall.

John Finley, son of Robert Finley of 2nd St., Chester, received a cut finger when it became caught in the hammer of a shotgun.

Nobody Can Breathe Easier

Persistence has registered a major triumph in the successful recovery of an H-bomb off the Mediterranean coast of Spain after two months of searching and grappling. Everybody can breathe easier.

But now that the last of the four lost bombs has been recovered and its whereabouts are known to all, there will be a delayed reaction. It will be realized that nobody can breathe easier in the era of The Bomb.

These bombs, with explosive force that makes anything ever used before to destroy life and property seem like a Chinese firecracker, are being carried routinely by Strategic Air Command bombers on readiness missions.

It is supposed to be deeply reassuring that they cannot be detonated as the result of an accident; that destination must be an orderly procedure carried out by two trained persons working together.

But there can be no solid reassurance about such a weapon as long as it exists. Spaniards have been assured there will be no more refueling operations over Spanish land. But the accident that loosed four thermonuclear bombs last January could happen again over some other nation's land. It could happen over an ocean. And despite all reassurances to the contrary, such an accident might set off a thermonuclear explosion.

The anxiety that has plagued mankind since nuclear physicists learned how to unleash more destruction than men ever had dreamed of before has been tightened up another notch. The Bomb is always up there somewhere, waiting to fall, by intention or by accident.

When Jobs Look For Employees

On every college campus from now until June, "ivory hunters" will be looking for seniors with outstanding job potential.

In some categories of employment, they will be looking for top-ranked students able to move directly from the classroom into jobs now unfilled that will be waiting for them. There is a sharp demand for students trained in engineering, mathematics, physics and chemistry.

In other cases, students who have not specialized in any special branch of education will be taken on faith and enrolled in training programs. The "ivory hunters" will assume the job potential is present because the students will have proved by going through college that they possess aptitude for academic education.

Apart from acute industrial need for such people there is heavy academic demand for teachers, especially at the highest academic level, where educationism is forgotten and the emphasis is on scholarship.

The fact is that the United States, despite its long-term emphasis on compulsory education, is desperately short of people capable of handling jobs that demand keen intelligence plus advanced training. This is the reason for deferring the drafting of as many college students as possible. This is the reason for the concerted effort to widen educational opportunities and to keep students in school.

The "ivory hunters" have no time to waste looking for winning material among school dropouts.

Oldest Game In Washington

Rep. Frank T. Bow's proposals for taking 5 per cent off the top of the latest two appropriation bills to be passed in the House of Representatives were snowed under, as the 16th District Republican knew they would be.

The House of Representatives then went into Easter recess, giving their members a chance to come home for a brushup session with their constituents.

They will want to know how the land lies on the military adventure in Viet Nam, devaluation of the dollar, usually referred to as inflation, federal spending, taxation and the various domestic programs getting under way, most of them so raggedly it is still too soon to make much sense of them.

The legislators will find what they are looking for in most instances. But in one particular instance they will not need to look. They will know in advance how people back home feel about federal spending.

They're against it if the other fellow is the beneficiary.

If they're the beneficiary, they're for it. Consequently, their representatives and senators, knowing how this works, must wear two faces.

With one face they must deplore spending for the benefit of the other fellow, and with the other they must show sympathy for the worthy causes of their own constituents.

They must blame a profligate administration for spending too much, when that is the thing to do — never themselves but always the administration. They must do this though everybody knows that only Congress can appropriate money. The Constitution gave it the power of the purse.

Now you see it, now you don't. It's the oldest game in Washington.

WASHINGTON

This is that time of broken pencils, ink on the tablecloth, canceled checks all over the floor, and more arithmetic than you do all year.

But, while there's nothing free about income taxes, they do show how free free enterprise can be.

Tardy taxpayers, probably millions of them with only seven more days left, are in a frenzied scramble now to make out their 1965 income tax returns before the April 15 deadline.

This year about 65 million individual returns will be filed. To help them, the government has tried to simplify even more Form 1040 on which they make their returns. But the government didn't do a very good job of it.

In addition, to be helpful, the government has printed about 1.5 million copies of its blue-covered, 160 - page information booklet, "Your Federal Income Tax." Taken as a whole, this wasn't a very hot job, either.

But this booklet, selling for 50 cents, was not copyrighted. So a couple of enterprising outfits just helped themselves to it, and all the work that went into it.

They had it reprinted, with a new cover and a different name. The contents and the drawings, word for word, are the same as the federal booklet.

But whereas that government booklet sells for only 50 cents, one of the duplicates put out by the free enterprisers sells for 75 cents and the other for $1.

Naturally, they share the virtues and defects of the government booklet which can be enor-

Purely Personal

Most serious failure of civilization is failure even to try to communicate. Next most serious is to try and fail for lack of ability to be comprehensible.

As if to rub it in for asking if mourning doves stay here all winter, a pair of these gentle birds built a nest in an evergreen just outside the bedroom window, where I can watch them raise a family.

As an avid childhood reader of National Geographic Magazine I can think of no quicker way to shatter a sometimes happy image than a topos anything worn by a member of the opposite sex.

When I turned to the sports pages, I saw pictures of professional football and basketball players, when I was looking for professional baseball players. I think the publicists are cutting up one another too recklessly for their own good when this happens.

I like to swap dog yarns because nobody cares if you gussie them up for the sake of the telling. The other fellow will be doing the same thing when it's his turn.

When I was a child I got new shoes to wear on Easter Sunday, thus making the shoes of the Easter before available for everyday wear during the remainder of the school year. They either would be too small by that time, or would have been too large before that time. In either case, they never did fit.

With apologies to all ladies who own them, "pot hats" suggest to me that holes should be cut in both sides for the ears to stick through, the way it was done when horses wore the same things in the good old summertime.

It is interesting to speculate about the relative handicaps of deafness and blindness, but the discussion isn't what it was before so many things could be done about deafness. There have been no comparable advances in dealing with blindness.

We have been told that the inevitable effect if the United States pulled out of Southeast Asia would be to let the Communists gobble up everything. Before that happened, non-Communists among the South Vietnamese might gobble up each other.

The gut issue over urban renewal is that some people like urban decay because it is economically profitable and others dislike it because it's socially unprofitable—and never the twain shall meet.

They're Playing Their Song

Union Acts Back Viet Stand

By Victor Riesel

Outcries of those who exercise their inherent right to high decibel dissent over Viet Nam have in recent days drowned out the voices of those who believe they at least have the same right to assent.

The voices of the former, loud and harsh, are heard on the streets of our land. The voices of the latter, softer, more charitable, now are heard easing the pains and anguish of women and children in Vietnamese villages and little-known delta cities.

Among the assenters ignored amid the shrillness of the streets are leaders of millions of unionists who are helping neutralize Viet Cong terror, rebuild villages, feed hungry children, build orphanages, put floors into clinics and roofs on welfare centers and provide teachers for youngsters in far-off South Viet Nam.

A can of chocolate milk dispatched by a steelworker may not fill out a headline but it does wonders for the stomachs of diseased kids, desperately needing safe foods in the Asiatic heat.

TO SOME there may be the tough of jingoism in the title of the Committee to Support American Servicemen in Viet Nam but its leaders care little about brickbats hurled at them by the dissenters.

These leaders, officials of the International Union of Electrical Workers (IUE), District 3, are devoting themselves to rebuilding villages which have been bombed out. This is being done by collecting funds from IUE members for the IUE Resettlement Village and for the aid of the U.S. Marine Corps' Civic Action Program.

Under the guidance of Committee Chairman Jerry Leopaldi, the union members help the Marines work out a series of specific projects aimed at winning the peace piecemeal after each battle has been won.

Where, for instance, the Marines go in and win a fight but a village has been knocked out in the struggle, the commanding officer surveys the damage. Was a church or temple destroyed? Was a school demolished? Was the water supply wiped out?

When the answers are learned, the CO assigns a sufficient number of men, medical corpsmen and other specialists as a "peace team." They locate a village interpreter. They tend to the wounded. They begin rebuilding the hamlet.

CLINICS, SCHOOLS, social centers and public kitchens go up. It isn't easy for the husky Marines to make friends after flushing Viet Cong out of the thatched huts the enemy used as camouflage but the Marines try. The more schools, the more clinics, the more food, the greater the understanding that they do not come as conquerors.

To make possible more schools and food and tiny hospitals, the IUE has set up its committee and is successfully urging its members to donate a dollar a month to help support the Marines' reconstruction program.

Nor is IUE alone in Viet Nam. An official of the International Association of Machinists (IAM) was over in the delta city of My Tho recently.

He was a guest of a meeting of the provincial labor council. They gathered in an unfinished social-welfare center. Their money had run out. The building needed a roof.

The IAM sent them the funds. Now they need a floor and doors and windows. The Machinists are raising those funds, too, from the rank and file here in the States. Soon the social center, which houses a clinic and school, will be complete.

IT'S THE MILLION-MEMBER Steelworkers, headquartered in Pittsburgh, which is sending the safe and caloric chocolate milk.

It's the Screen Actors Guild which is encouraging its people to make certain that Bob Hope is not the only entertainer who has been on the road to Saigon. Eddie Fisher, Charlton Heston, Martha Raye, Edgar Bergen and his dummy and lots more have defied the plastic bombs of the terrorists.

It's all part of a union-to-union program launched by AFL-CIO President George Meany, spokesman for some 14 million laborites. It's all coordinated with the Confederation of Vietnamese Labor, whose leader is Tran Quoc Bui.

Through The Years

Edward Leroy Brown of Mapletree St. was promoted to fireman first class on the Intrepid at San Francisco.

TEN YEARS AGO — Mrs. Merrill Hall was elected president of the general WSCS of the First Methodist Church.

Dr. M. P. Burnett, Dr. Jay Kinsey and Samuel Brown were inducted as members of the Rotary Club.

Miss Martha Horger of St. George St. was named to the honor roll for the winter quarter at Kent State University, where she was a junior.

Easter Thoughts Are Offered

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Some Easter thoughts in 1966.

The breath of evil is upon everything in the world, all around us burns the fire of destruction. People are killing each other on the battlefield, in mistaken hope of keeping the larger peace. Sophisticates are mocking the virtues and humiliating the upright.

They bow before the almighty wealth, calling it good business. Individuals worship scientific knowledge and still lack wisdom. They celebrate the joy of the flesh, excusing it as natural vigor.

All this weighs upon our hearts, and we are frightened of the future. Mankind has forgotten the source of salvation.

"Shame for this precious sacrifice," whispers the wind above the hundreds of young bodies in Viet Nam. At home the sea of tears flows on. "Why has this happened?" questions each emergency crew, viewing the stark eyes of death at a fatal car accident, at the wreckage of a plain crash, or the demolished homes left by a tornado. What evil spirit dwells in the convict who has taken life, destroyed property or sinned against national honor and morality? Why do we see so little success in spite of millions spent on the space program? Why so little return for the quantities of money and lifetimes of dedication to medical research. Why the uncounted grants to foreign countries without the expected gains in the peace and well-being of the world?

How can we wonder about these problems when we have set man's laws above every thing? If we really want to find the answer, look to the Golgotha on this Easter. We must tremble when we see the three crosses set against the angry clouds and lightning. He is crucified for the sins of the world, for our sins! In the darkness and turmoil of our lives shines the light of Christ, Who redeems us. Let our law be the law of the risen Saviour, the law of love given to us in the Bible.

Section Of Revised Code Cited

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

Much has been said lately in print and otherwise about the relative merits of a community college and the present working branch of the Kent State University in East Liverpool and Salem. And, it is emphasized that it must be one or the other. So we are required to choose between the rapidly-growing branch of Kent State and an institution that does not yet exist except in the imagination of its promoters.

I do not wish to belittle the efforts of the fine bunch of individuals, who bravely tackled the task of starting a community college, but it seems only fair to review their chances of success.

It appears that none of them have had the wide experience and some of them none at all in the chosen field. Practically all the small colleges with long histories, business ability, scholarship and numerous alumni find it difficult to raise enough money to keep going. With that general condition, what chance would an organization without a history, or experience, or funds, or alumni have of raising the funds necessary to maintain itself? And so the argument might continue, except that the law seems to have pointed up the answer.

From a legal standpoint, we challenge respectfully the right of the Board of Regents to approve the petition of the trustees of the proposed community college. Section 3333.05 of the Revised Code covering the community act wisely provides as follows:

"The board shall approve an official plan and issue a charter, only upon the following findings:

"That the proposed community college will not unreasonably and wastefully duplicate existing educational services available to students and prospective students residing in the community college district."

I think that we can safely assume that the Board of Regents are aware of the law and their duty and that they will follow the law and do their duty in the premises; or, could the board find by a stretch of the imagination that Kent State University is unable to do the necessary service and cut it off in favor of an organization that is yet on the drawing boards?

KSU Branch Praised By Student

EDITOR OF THE REVIEW:

I have recently read of the possibility of discontinuing the East Liverpool branch of Kent State University.

Being a college student myself and a resident of the East Liverpool area, I feel there is much to be said about the KSU branch from the standpoint of the student.

Although I am not enrolled at the branch college myself, many of my friends and former classmates are. Some of these students are enrolled there because they could not meet the higher costs at a larger school, and others are there because of the convenience and accessibility of a college near home. These two factors alone can mean the difference in attaining a college education to many potential students.

I feel that I am very fortunate in the fact that my parents can afford to send me to a university such as this. But I also feel that I am no more fortunate than those who otherwise would not have the opportunity of a college education and are receiving one now through the KSU branch.

In an age when a college degree is so important, we cannot afford to refuse anyone who is qualified the opportunity to further his or her education.

Body Of Second Student Found In Ohio River

ROCHESTER, Pa. (AP) — The body of the second of two Youngstown University students who disappeared in the Ohio River in February was recovered today near this Beaver County town.

Coroner John W. Colavincenzo identified the body as that of Edwin Sekinger, 25, of Youngstown, Ohio. His body was spotted by three truck drivers of a truck terminal along the river.

Sekinger was an occupant of a canoe that overturned in the river Feb. 19 near Aliquippa. The body of Robert H. Harper, 20, of Center Twp. was recovered March 28 near Conway. Joseph Lampich, 19, of Aliquippa, a third occupant of the craft, swam to safety.

Ferro Discloses Personnel Shifts

CLEVELAND — Two personnel changes have been announced by the Ferro Corps., with headquarters here.

William N. Noble has been made group vice president and Harold Ginter has been named to head the newly-formed corporate engineering department.

Noble will have overall responsibility for the Frit, Color and Ferro-Alloy Engineering Divisions, all of which supply products and services to the porcelain enamel, clayware and other industrial fields.

Noble has been with Ferro for 33 years.

The corporate engineering department under Ginter will serve in an advisory capacity and will assist Ferro's eight domestic divisions in the design and construction of new production facilities, alteration of existing operations and selection of machinery and equipment. These services will also be available to Ferro's international divisions.

Youth Fined $15 Here As Result Of Mishap

A North Side teen-ager was cited for failing to yield the right-of-way after his auto struck a pickup truck Thursday afternoon on St. Clair Ave. near Broadway.

John B. Clendenning, 18, of 1019 Huston Ave. was charged following the mishap at 2:04 p. m. with the pickup truck of Little Tiger Distributing of Youngstown, driven by James R. Walker, 31, of 900 May St.

Walker said he was traveling north and slowing for the traffic signal when Clendenning came out of a service station and hit the right side of his truck. Clendenning told police he didn't see the truck in time to stop.

Clendenning was fined $15 and costs today by Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff.

It's Mobility

Jobless Are Moved To Jobs

DURHAM, N.C. (AP) — North Carolina wanted to move the jobless from its mountains and coastal plains to the jobs in its midsection, the Piedmont.

The North Carolina Fund, an antipoverty agency, had the answer: Mobility.

Mobility already has taken 279 families at the very bottom of the economic ladder and moved them, lock, stock and barrel, from areas of low employment to places where jobs are abundant.

"Employers in the Piedmont are crying for workers," said Robert Lofaso, director of Mobility. "Machines are standing idle. Some companies have taken their salesmen off the road because orders are piling up."

On the other hand, he said, "the eastern and mountain areas of the state are filled with people who need work."

Lofaso said Mobility makes sure there is a job waiting for a man before he and his family are moved.

Once the family is relocated, Mobility counselors help the wage earner so he does not swap one welfare roll for another. The counselors also help with relocation from rural to urban environments. This includes how to catch a bus, punch a time clock or enroll a child in school.

Lofaso says none of Mobility's clients has had to rely on welfare after relocation.

Begun as a project a year ago, Mobility originally planned to relocate families all over the nation. However, Lofaso said,

"we soon found that there are jobs in North Carolina. It's just a matter of matching men with the jobs."

The U.S. Department of Labor recently approved a $1 million grant to relocate another 2,000 families in the state.

Mobility recruiters find low income families by trodding through fields, knocking on doors, walking streets and talking to church groups.

A North Carolina Fund spokesman said those over 40 years of age are reluctant to move. "Under 40, they have more energy and are not as tied to the area," he said. The Mobility recruiters "don't try to sell the man something he doesn't want."

"Without exception," Lofaso said, "the areas where employment is high have a scarcity of housing, particularly low income homes."

He said the program plans to establish nonprofit boarding houses in the relocation areas where the families can live until they find a permanent home.

The families are given an allowance for the moving costs and expenses until the first pay check arrives.

The majority of the 279 families moved to Charlotte, High Point, Thomasville, Salisbury, Statesville or Martinsville, Va.

Lofaso said the persons who have gotten jobs through the program are now earning an average of $3,400 a year, compared to an average $1,200 before relocation.

Class Meets At Irondale

Mrs. Twyla Nicholson conducted devotions when Dorcas Class of the Irondale Methodist Church met Wednesday night at the home of Mrs. Wilma McFadden, president.

Mrs. Nicholson also had a program on Easter. Plans were made for a rummage sale at the church April 15.

Lunch was served nine by Mrs. McFadden, assisted by Mrs. Helen Nightingale.

The Friendship Club met Monday night with Mrs. Bernice Crawford. Eight attended.

Mrs. Joyce Cline, president, conducted the business. Mrs. Ruth Krueger gave the secretary's report.

Plans were made for a bowling party April 28. Mrs. Crawford was assisted in serving by Mrs. Mary Evelyn Workman and Mrs. Alta Nicholson.

Miss Elizabeth Fortune has been called to California by the death of her brother, Dominick Fortune, a former Irondale resident.

Mrs. Beula Billie and Mrs. Gretchen Hogue are ill at their homes.

Bodies Of 2 Red Airmen Handed Over To Soviet

BERLIN (AP) — A British army honor guard commanded by the highest-ranking British officer in Berlin delivered to the Russians today the bodies of two Soviet fliers who crashed in a West Berlin river.

The bodies were handed over after hours of wrangling between the two allies of World War II over what a British spokesman called arrangements, including who was to take part.

The plane, a twin-engine jet, crashed in the Havel River in the British sector Wednesday.

Brig. Alan Taylor, commander of the British brigade in Berlin, turned over the bodies to a Soviet general and an honor guard.

The British did not permit Soviet crews to recover the plane, which was raised by British and West German salvage workers. A British spokesman said the plane eventually would be returned to the Russians.

Early Distribution Of Funds Requested

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — The Bureau of Motor Vehicles was asked by Gov. James A. Rhodes today to make an early distribution of 1966 license plate funds to the local taxing districts.

The governor said the distribution would provide the counties municipalities with funds needed for road repair and construction.

The bureau said that in accordance with the request, it is planning an early release early next week of about half the amount normally included in the first distribution. This is being done, the bureau said, to offset the two-week lag in auto license tax collection because of the extension of the expiration date to April 15.

Man Fined $100 In Traffic Case

Joseph Ammon of 729 Washington Ave., Wellsville, was fined $100 and costs for leaving the scene of an accident at a hearing Thursday before Mayor William Daugherty of Wellsville.

Ammon was cited March 29 after his car collided with one operated by Mrs. Sally Rawlings of 1726 Chester Ave., Wellsville, in the 400 block of Broadway, Wellsville.

Testimony disclosed Ammon stopped his car, went to the other, where he said something to Mrs. Rawlings, and then left before giving information to police.

Ammon was picked up a short time later at his home.

Holt Plans New Proposals At Education Board Meeting

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Expansion of the work-study program whereby students are employed part-time as part of their schooling and two new joint vocational school districts will be recommended for approval to the State Board of Education Monday.

E. E. Holt said Thursday night he will recommend five school districts for initial employment and two for additional employment of students in the work-study program, established under the Vocational Education Act of 1963. Holt is the state superintendent of public instruction.

The districts are Hillsboro City Schools; Elmwood, Wood County; Jefferson Area Local, Ashtabula County; Southern Local, Meigs County; Eastern

Local, Meigs County; Mahoning Valley Vocational, and New Philadelphia City Schools. The last two already are using the program.

Holt will recommend establishment of joint vocational school districts for Belmont County and for Defiance, Fulton, Henry and Williams County.

Holt also said he would recommend approval of a request of the Oberlin City Board of Education to transfer 30 acres of land from the city school district to the Elyria City School District. He also will recommend approval of the Washington Court House City School District's request to transfer territory annexed to the city from the Miami Trace Local School District, Fayette County.

Great Impact On Congress Seen If Viet Regime Falls

WASHINGTON (AP) — Sen. Gale W. McGee, just returned from turbulent Viet Nam, says that if the Saigon government is toppled it will have a "tremendous impact" on a Congress already restive about the war.

The Wyoming Democrat returned from Asia Thursday and reported his impression to President Johnson in a 40-minute White House talk.

McGee told newsmen later that the rioting in Viet Nam is serious and admitted to a questioner "I don't know" whether the government of Premier Nguyen Cao Ky can survive.

McGee acknowledged in an interview that another change in Saigon leadership would give Congress' vocal peace wing more ammunition.

The administration critics "would say we shouldn't be there, that they don't want us. But they are putting the cart before the horse. The stability of Viet Nam's government is a secondary factor in the struggle over there."

"The primary factor," McGee argued, "is to restore the balance of Asia in the wake of the devastation from World War II."

Despite the political unrest, McGee expressed belief "the military prospect is excellent."

McGee, a strong supporter of Johnson's policy, said he didn't think any of the contending groups in South Viet Nam actually wanted to kick Americans out and were using "anti-American gimmicks" in their demonstrations to put heat on the government.

On the retail level, sales of toys in the United States amounted to $2.44 billion in 1965, compared with $2.27 billion the preceding year.

Motorist Escapes Injury When His Car Runs Wild

A 21-year-old Irontale man escaped injury early this morning when his car went out of control on W. 3rd St., bounced off curbs and knocked down a highway sign post before being abandoned on Jackson St.

After police had the auto removed, Albert Jay Howell, 21, of Irontale R. D. 1 went to the station and admitted driving the auto. He said a broken tie rod caused him to lose control.

Patrolman R. J. Brookes said the marks traced along the street and the location of the sign post indicated the driver was headed east. The sedan crossed the center line and hit the curb on the north side of W. 3rd St., plowed up a dirt section and knocked the sign post into Jackson St.

The car continued over the curb, across Jackson St. and bounced off the curb on the northeast corner at W. 3rd and Jackson Sts., Brookes said. Witnesses told the patrolman that four men shoved the disabled car from W. 3rd onto Municipal Judge Samuel M. Chertoff on a charge of failing to yield the right-of-way. He was cited March 4 by the State Highway Patrol after a collision at St. Clair Ave. Ext. and Berkshire Rd. Hollister pleaded guilty, but explained to the court there was no stop sign on Berkshire Rd. and vision is obscured to the left.

man Catholic Cathedral of San Fernando, built in 1731. It was from the tower of this church that a Mexican bugler sounded the dread "no quarter" call as his countrymen attacked the 200 Texas defenders of the nearby Alamo in 1836. Remains of the 200 rest within a crypt inside the church.

San Antonio, with a large Mexican-American population, was crowded this Holy Week — Semana Santa in Spanish — by thousands who traveled here from Mexico to pray, to shop, and to mark the end of the Lenten season.

Johnson was in an expansive mood as he stopped here at Randolph Air Force Base Thursday and mixed with a crowd of 300 before boarding a smaller plane to fly to his ranch.

He kissed children, shook dozens of hands, and had a "Happy Easter" greeting for everyone.

Once at his LBJ Ranch, he wasted little time before taking Mrs. Johnson on a sunset ride around the countryside.

Daughter Luci's fiancé, Patrick J. Nugent of Waukegan, Ill., was a weekend guest at the ranch. He was joined there by his sister-in-law, Phyllis Nugent of San Diego, Calif., whose husband, 1st Lt. Gerard Nugent, is a Marine stationed in South Vietnam.

Johnson told reporters the young Marine officer, who is based near Da Nang and took part in the recent Operation Double Eagle, is "doing very well."

While in the city today, the President was expected to call on Huffman Baines, 80, his "Uncle Huff" who lives in San Antonio.

City Credit Union Sets Drive For Members

Plans were discussed for a campaign to boost membership in the City Employees Credit Union at the monthly meeting Thursday afternoon at Council chambers in City Hall.

The organization now has about 50 members, but there is a potential of approximately 100 more among city employees, officers said.

Five new members joined the credit union during March. City Auditor Lawrence J. Zolinger, president, presided.

The next meeting will be May 5 at City Hall.

Ohio Tax Chief Cites Low Rate On Property

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — Ohio Tax Commissioner G. W. Porterfield issued a statement today saying the state has the lowest property tax rate in terms of mills of the 12 major industrial states.

He said in terms of the state average assessed ratio, Ohio is low with 33.89 mills. At the top of the list is New Jersey with 88 mills, he said.

His study covered non-farm residential property and source material came from the U. S. Bureau of Census. Porterfield said the continuing study is being made in response to inquiries from across the state.

Firemen Revive Woman In Blaze

CINCINNATI (AP)—Firemen revived a 75-year-old woman who had stopped breathing, and a man with an ailing back rescued two others in an apartment building fire Thursday.

Mrs. Mattie Littlejohn was found unconscious in the building, and firemen said she was not breathing. They revived her, and led her down a fire escape.

Elbert Kennedy, 50, a resident of the building, caught two persons as they jumped from the second floor window. None of the three was hurt seriously.

Kennedy said he is recovering from previous back injuries.

Patterson Firm Pledges $2,500 To Scholar Fund

A record contribution to the "Dollars for Scholars" drive has been pledged by the Patterson Division of Patterson Industries, according to Jackman S. Vodrey, campaign vice president.

William P. Barker, general manager of the Patterson Division, has announced his company will contribute $2,500, a 25 per cent increase over last year's pledge.

In the four years since "Dollars for Scholars" began, Patterson Industries has pledged, successively, $1,000, $1,400, $2,000 and now $2,500, a record of support unmatched in the seven school districts comprising the area CSF.

Vodrey also announced that a record pledge from a union—$200—has been received from the Patterson United Steelworkers Local 1322. He praised the steelworkers for their part in supporting a civic enterprise such as Dollars for Scholars and voiced the hope that other union groups will join the ranks of contributors.

Until this year, International Typographical Union Local 318 has been the only union to consistently support the scholarship group.

Vodrey said 60 per cent of this year's goal has been met to date by the area fund drive. He said $15,428 has been raised in the form of cash or pledges, but this is still short of the goal of $25,000.

In 1965, $21,000 was raised.

The goal was increased over last year's total to cover the larger number of students who are expected to apply for scholarship aid.

Last year, 73 students from the seven school districts comprising the Citizens Scholarship Foundation received aid in the form of scholarship loans ranging from $100 to $500.

Since this is only the fourth year for CSF in this area, this will be the first time four full classes of high school seniors will be applying for aid at the same time.

Many of the original recipients in CSF's first year are now juniors in college and will need help to complete their senior year at school, and Vodrey urged businesses, organizations and individuals who have not yet contributed to send their pledges or donations to Box 458 in East Liverpool. Checks may be made payable to Citizens Scholarship Foundation or "Dollars for Scholars."

The deadline for the drive, formerly set March 26, has been rescheduled for April 17 in hope that this year's goal may be reached.

The awards committee will be appointed and meet sometime at the end of April or beginning of May to consider the many applications which are expected.

The awards banquet is currently set for May 24 at 6:30, according to Ted Taylor, program vice president.

Motorist Kills 2 Policemen In California

VALLEJO, Calif. (AP) — A motorist shot and killed two policemen Thursday night after they trapped him on a dead-end street and tried to give him a traffic citation.

Dead are Patrolmen Calvin Thacker, 36, and William Eason, 31.

Most of Vallejo's 70-man police force, reinforced by sheriff's deputies and the California Highway Patrol, blocked all exits from this San Francisco Bay area city as well as two bridges.

Hunted was a restaurant worker at nearby El Cerrito, traced through a partly completed citation found beside a patrolman's body.

Police said their quarry has police records in Napa and Oakland and that he was once arrested in this county on an assault with a deadly weapon charge. His fingerprints and spent cartridges were found in an abandoned car, also traced through the citation.

An unnamed witness, attracted by the gunfire, said there were four persons in the car police had stopped—two men and two women.

Grand Jury

227 E. 2nd St., East Liverpool, sodomy and assault;

Franklin D. Watkins, 19, operating a motor vehicle without the owner's consent;

Jerry Lee Cermak, assault with a dangerous weapon;

Frank Wells, 18, of Francis St., East Liverpool, malicious entry.

The jurors, after their inspection of the County Jail, made two recommendations:

That a study be made relative to improving the means of communication between prisoner and visitor, the present facilities being termed inadequate.

That the county commissioners consult with the sheriff relative to the possibility of increasing the work force to make more men available for patrol duty.

PARIS (AP) — "Simply shocking," said the young Englishman, "it's an abridgment of our personal freedom."

He had long, tangled blond curls and a gold ring in his left ear and he was talking about the current French police crackdown on beatniks.

"If this keeps up I'll probably go to Spain," he said, crossing one sandaled foot over the other.

The French have decided that long-haired, moneyless, jobless, and untidy visitors are not welcome in France.

A government announcement this week said foreigners answering to this description would be stopped at the frontiers.

The first known victim of this policy was a 20-year-old University of Edinburgh student who was turned back at Calais. He had long hair, a guitar and about $24 in his jeans.

Members of the international beatnik community here say police started showing their unfriendliness as long as a month ago.

"I get stopped about three times a day," said a young American. "They check your passport, ask what you're doing here and then let you go."

"A buddy of mine was taken to the police station the other day. They let him go after four hours. No explanation."

The police have no trouble spotting "les beatniks." For the most part they wear a standard uniform: sandals or white tennis shoes, khaki pants, an Army surplus parka and a canvas bag for their possessions.

Socks and guitar are optional. An American sitting in a cafe which does a lot of business on credit consented to display the contents of his canvas bag.

It contained a two-day-old sausage sandwich, a paperback edition of Henry Miller's "Tropic of Cancer," a sweatshirt, a windproof lighter missing a flint, a street map of Lyon, a penknife, a crumpled letter from an uncomprehending father and a baseball autographed by Ted Williams.

From the cafe, he and a Swede carrying a harmonica walked to the bank of the Seine to join a band of shaggy-haired companions supervising the comings and goings of tourists in glass-topped sightseeing boats.

In a few minutes a pair of policemen strolled up and told everyone to move on. Those who murmured had their papers checked.

"See what I mean, baby," the American said. "It's a drag, a real drag."

At night, they gather under the Seine bridges and sing and drink wine until the police come.

French beatniks get short shrift from the law if they are scooped up with the long-haired foreign gentry. If they don't have jobs, they are open to a charge of vagabondage.

There is no campaign against French beatniks, however. The police can't touch most of them since they are in their own country and how they look is their privilege.

New Curfew Ordered In Riot-Torn Kowloon

HONG KONG (AP) — The government imposed a new curfew and ordered more troops and police into riot-torn Kowloon today as fear mounted that new violence would follow the death of a Chinese, shot when police fired on rioters.

Chinese mobs, mostly teenagers, burned, smashed and looted early today in the second straight night of demonstrations against a proposal to raise the fare on the Hong Kong Kowloon ferry by about one U.S. cent.

Despite Sit-In Demonstration

U.N. Council Delays Call For Meeting On Rhodesia

UNITED NATIONS, N.Y. (AP) — The African president of the U.N. Security Council delayed compliance today with Britain's call for an urgent council meeting on Rhodesia while African members tried to agree on a strategy.

Despite a sit-in demonstration by 10 of the council's 15 members to force Ambassador Mousa Keo Keita of Mali to call a meeting Thursday night, Keita said he could not do so because he was still holding consultations.

He indicated a session might not be called until Monday.

Britain requested the meeting Thursday afternoon to ask for U.N. authority to use force to enforce economic sanctions against the rebel white minority regime in Rhodesia.

The British wanted immediate action so they could use force if necessary to prevent a Greek oil tanker from unloading her 18,000 tons of oil in Beira, Portuguese Mozambique, for transshipment to Rhodesia. The ship has been anchored in Beira since Wednesday.

Diplomatic sources said Keita was seeking the approval of the entire 36-nation African group before convening the session.

African states have been urging Britain to take military action against the regime of Rhodesian Prime Minister Ian Smith, who declared independence from Britain on Nov. 11 to preserve rule by the country's white minority.

British Prime Minister Harold Wilson so far has ruled out any direct military intervention. Instead he has relied on economic sanctions, including the U.N.-backed oil embargo, to bring down Smith's regime.

Participating in Thursday night's 6 1/2-hour sit-in were the United States, Britain, France, Jordan, Uruguay, Venezuela, Japan, Nationalist China, New Zealand and the Netherlands. Absent were the Soviet Union, Mali, Uganda, Nigeria and Bulgaria.

Ex-Residents Among Those Ordered To Leave By Burma

The Rev. and Mrs. Frank Manton, missionaries in Burma and former residents of East Liverpool, will be leaving Burma within the next two months in compliance with a Burmese government order that all foreign missionaries be out of the country by May 31. Four other Methodist missionaries are being affected by the edict.

Arrangements are being made for the assignment of the Mantons to another country for continued missionary service. They plan to retire from the missionary field at the end of the year.

Rev. Manton was serving as pastor of the English-language Methodist Church in Rangoon, capital of Burma, and as district superintendent of the English-Indian District.

They have been missionaries for more than 25 years and spent their last furlough in East Liverpool about three years ago. He lived here for many years and was the son of the late Mr. and Mrs. Thomas Manton who resided at Orchard Grove Ave. He has a brother, the Rev. Albert Manton, pastor of the Mahoney Ave. Methodist Church in Youngstown, and a sister, Mrs. Miriam Doak of East Liverpool.

ped his 1963 coach behind a semi-trailer rig operated by George Coconis, 39, of Flushing R.D. 1, who had halted because of the traffic tieup.

A semi-trailer truck driven by Herman E. Pinnell, 25, of Mingo Junction approached from the north, attempted to pass the halted auto, and braked the rig, but his trailer skidded into the rear of the car, shoving it against the back of the trailer truck ahead.

The patrol said there were a number of trucks and autos stalled on the icy roadway, especially in the Williamsport area.

When reports began coming in before midnight, patrol cruisers were sent to the district, and finally the decision was made to close the section of highway to permit cinder operations.

Route 30 was also icy in sections, but was quickly salted and made safe, the patrol said. No one was injured in a Route 30 mishap in the Substation area about 10:40 p. m. officers reported.

A car operated by Frank Norman Peltz, 45, of Wickliffe, headed east, and one driven by Loretta Widmer, 25, of Jeanette, Pa., sideswiped on a curve about 400 yards from the intersection with Route 170. Officers said the woman lost control on a curve and her car hit the side of the other.

Alma Walker, 23, of 219 Graham St., Lisbon, was not hurt when her 1961 sedan veered off Route 518, a half-mile west of Route 164 at 8:15 p. m.

The auto went off the highway on a curve and overturned on its right side, demolishing the car.

Slight damage was caused to a truck and coach on Route 7, about three miles north of Route 30, at 4:35 p. m.

The car operated by Robert Jack Democko, 31, of Struthers sideswiped a pickup truck driven by John Wilbert Hough, 30, of Columbiana when Democko attempted to pass then cut back into his own lane because of traffic ahead.

The average cost of educating an elementary or secondary school pupil is $558 per school year, the U.S. Office of Education reports.

Hearings End In Cleveland

Police Service In Negro Areas Lags, Witness Says

CLEVELAND (AP)—The U.S. Commission on Civil Rights ended a six-day hearing here after receiving testimony that police service lags in predominantly Negro areas of Cleveland.

Roy Littlejohn, commission staff member, said Thursday that police respond more slowly to calls for assistance from Negro areas than to calls from the areas where the population is predominantly white.

His report supported long-standing complaints from Hough area negroes.

John A. Ronayne, assistant to the dean of the Fordham University School of Law in New York, who made a study of Cleveland's police problems for the commission, also reported that his study showed it takes longer for police to respond in the Fifth District than in other police districts.

The fifth district covers most of the high-crime Hough Area.

The Littlejohn Report was based on a selected study of police reports for certain days in the first seven months of 1965.

Ronayne said that police feel the complaints are not justified and are "politically inspired to unite Negroes for use in political campaigns."

Ronayne recommended that the police department centralize its complaint procedures.

Another witness, Police Chief Richard R. Wagner, told the commission that no Cleveland policeman had been disciplined

3 Folk Singers To Perform At 'Coffee House' Saturday

Three folk singers will perform Saturday night at "The Other Spot," a student coffee house the Student Christian Association launched last week in the basement of the YMCA.

Featured this week will be Mary Compas and the duo of Robbins & Rowley. Paul Jarvis, a folk singer, performed last week.

Miss Compas, daughter of Mr. and Mrs. Ralph Compas of Hill Blvd., is a senior at East Liverpool High School who specializes in folk songs and folk hymns. She accompanies herself with a ukulele and has appeared before various local groups the past several years. She sang at the Lions Club Minstrel and is active in the high school Concert Choir and the Ensemble.

Ken Robbins and Ron Rowley made their musical debut at the Lions Minstrel, singing "A Man of Constant Sorrow." Both sing, while Ron plays bass and Ken plays either the mandolin, the five-string banjo, or a guitar. Both are high school juniors. They have been singing together the last year.

The coffee house is open to all area post-high school youth each Saturday at 8:30 p.m.

Miss Compas will sing at 9, while Ken and Ron will perform at 9:45. All three will combine their talents at 10:30 for the finale.

The Student Christian Association will meet at the First Methodist Church April 24.

The advisers to the interdenominational group from Kent State Academic Center and the City Hospital School of Nursing are the Rev. Gene Toot of the Trinity United Presbyterian Church, the Rev. Allen Conway of the First Methodist Church, Miss Doris Christian and Charles Lang.

Three Perish, Two Injured In Home Fire

WILLIAMSPORT, Pa. (AP) — Three persons burned to death and at least two others were injured early today in a fire that destroyed the rural home of Rodney A. Peet, 32, of Proctor Star Route.

The scene is about 20 miles northeast of Williamsport, near the Lycoming - Sullivan county line.

The other dead were identified as Neda Peet, 77, and James Peet, 41, both of McDonald R.D. 3, Washington County. The relationship of the Peets was not immediately established.

James Peet Jr., 17, of Philadelphia, was brought to Divine Providence Hospital in Williamsport with second degree burns of the face and hands.

Charles R. Peet, 16, of Shamokin, was treated at the same hospital for first degree burns of one hand and discharged.

Trooper John R. Sherosick of the state police fire marshal's office at Montoursville took charge of the investigation at the scene.

A storekeeper near the scene told the Williamsport Sun-Gazette that the fire broke out about 2:30 a.m. and spread rapidly.

Sen. Young Says U.S. In Secret Talks With NLF

WASHINGTON (AP) — U.S. officials are negotiating secretly with the Vietnamese National Liberation Front, says Sen. Stephen M. Young, D-Ohio, in attacking administration leaders for refusing to negotiate directly with the front for a cease-fire.

The NLF, political arm of the Viet Cong, is "essentially independent of Hanoi," Young said Thursday.

The secret negotiations, the Ohio senator said, have been by Central Intelligence Agency and State Department officials for release of Gustav C. Hertz, American civilian official held by Viet Cong.

Young said it is noteworthy the American did not approach Hertz — "this gives the lie to the claim repeatedly made that the National Liberation Front is simply a puppet of Hanoi."

Retrial For Domer Recessed Till Tuesday

CANTON, Ohio (AP) — The first-degree murder retrial of Robert K. Domer in Stark County Common Pleas Court was recessed Thursday until April 14 after the defense rested its case.

Domer, 47, is accused of killing Howard F. Riddle, 54, Akron fruit peddler, in a plot to fake his own death so his family could collect $288,000 in insurance.

The long recess was taken to permit one of the presiding judges, Robert G. Tague of Perry County Common Pleas Court, to hear a scheduled trial in his home court.

Another three-judge panel convicted Domer in November, 1963 and he was sentenced to die in the electric chair, but an appellate court granted him a new trial.

Sandy, Don Lay An Easter Egg

Unsuspecting audiences can see for themselves Saturday night what a lucky break the world of show business got when Sandy Koufax and Don Drysdale decided they could play ball next year on $120,000 and $105,000, respectively.

Three days before agreeing to pitch for the Los Angeles Dodgers on those terms, Sandy and Don (or the Dynamic Duo, as they now are called) had signed to appear on ABC-TV's "Hollywood Palace" with songs and funny patter.

"WE DIDN'T KNOW if they'd still want to be on the show after making their deal with the Dodgers," says a wide-eyed publicity man for "Hollywood Palace," "but they decided they could do it just before leaving for Phoenix to join the team."

Weighing in their decision undoubtedly was the $7,500 each would get by just being at the theater last Friday from 4 to 7 p.m. with an hour off for dinner. Drysdale didn't even play the guitar, as billed in earlier publicity.

"It had been a long while since he'd played it," explained Nick Vanoff, one of the show's producers.

I was privileged to sit in on the dress rehearsal of what has gone on the tape so can recommend your watching it on TV Saturday (9:30 p.m., Channel 4), provided, of course, that by then you've found nothing better to do.

THE REST of this "Hollywood Palace" show had been taped the previous week, so Gene Barry, the host, had to come back to introduce Sandy and Don—and also Milton Berle dressed in a Met uniform. It seems Milton had worked in a night club act with Sandy and Don some time back in Las Vegas, so he agreed to be on hand to make the boys feel at home.

Except for an introduction at the beginning in which Gene refers to Sandy and Don's new Dodger deal as "the most famous signing since the Magna Charta," and another short spot before a station break, the ball players don't go into their act until the show is 45 minutes old. They follow the Rudi Lenz Chimps and The Hildalys (trick cyclists), and, as any veteran vaudevillian can tell you, the spot after an animal act on a vaudeville bill is about as choice as being the male baritone in a burlesque show.

When Berle has trouble bouncing a gag off someone, you have an idea how limp this performance was.

Of course, this was only the dress rehearsal, but I doubt that even a cram course at Actors Studio could have saved what I witnessed.

BOOKERS of vaudeville acts in the old days used to refer to acts like this as "freak" acts, which meant professional entertainers weren't involved, but that the party or parties on exhibition had some news value.

One of the earliest in this category was Peaches Browning who sued "Daddy" Browning to escape his bacchanalian revelries. A song was written in her honor and titled "I'm All Alone in a Palace of Stone." She also followed the animal act.

Other great "freak" acts included "Legs" Diamond's moll (I think she recited poetry), Jack Dempsey skipping rope and Gertrude Ederle in a tank of water. Anyone making the front pages of the newspapers was a candidate for 20 weeks of what was then known as the Gus Sun time in honor of the impresario who founded it.

IF VAUDEVILLE didn't die from these contributions to its delinquency, at least it's fair to say they helped it on the road to perdition.

I suppose in a way it is only proper for Ed Sullivan to host 34 Hungarian Olympic stars looking for political asylum in America and for Gene Barry and "Hollywood Palace" to show us a quarter-million dollars worth of pitchers.

It all makes for a kind of historical documentary on vaudeville and the unchanging times.

Ex-Steubenville Man Florida Blast Victim

MIAMI, Fla. (AP)—A former Steubenville, Ohio, man was killed Thursday night when vapor from plastic cement exploded when ignited by the pilot light of a gas water heater in a house trailer at the Doral Country Club here.

Authorities said Robert Bougher, 56, of the Miami suburb of Hialeah, and another man had been installing tile in the bathroom of the mobile home. Bougher's helper was burned but two others in the trailer escaped uninjured.

Between 1961 and 1965, credit extended in the U.S. to buy automobiles increased by 8.5 billion dollars.

School Will Become Coeducational Again

CANTON — Central Catholic High School here will become a coeducational institution in September.

Bishop James W. Malone announced today that the Christian Brothers will withdraw from the boys' division of the constitutional high school at the end of the present school term.

The fall semester will see Msgr. Fannon as principal, with the staff comprised of diocesan priests, Sisters of the Holy Humility of Mary and lay teachers.

The Holy Humility of Mary Nuns have provided high school education for Catholic girls in the Canton area since the early 1900's when they opened Mt. Marie Academy. The first class was graduated then in 1909.

In 1946, Central Catholic High School was established on a co-educational basis, and remained as such until 1954. The Christian Brothers became staff members at that time and the school was reorganized as a co-institutional school.

Two Pittsburgh Stores Picketed In Jobs Protest

PITTSBURGH (AP) — The United Negro Protest Committee protested alleged token employment of Negroes at two downtown Pittsburgh department stores Thursday night by picketing Gimble's and Joseph Horne Co. for several hours.

Police stood by as approximately a dozen pickets carried signs back and forth in front of each store. They said the demonstration was orderly.

Earlier Thursday, members of the committee met with representatives of the stores.

"The companies did agree with the (committee) recommendation, but when we asked that such agreement be reflected in writing they refused," said James McCoy Jr., chairman of the committee.

"We talked about every aspect of the problem," commented John T. Wayman, attorney for both stores. "The UNPC made us a proposal which we studied. We made a counter-proposal. We agreed on many points in principle. There are one or two unresolved matters."

5 More Killed In Mishaps On Ohio's Roads

By The Associated Press

A car ran off a rural road, plunged into a ditch and struck a concrete abutment, killing a Findlay driver who is included among Ohio's latest traffic fatalities.

The dead: Bryn Grayson, 26, Findlay. Clyde D. Bassett, 75, Hoytville, Putnam County.

John W. McKnight, 39, Columbus.

Phillip R. Munger, 35, Greenville.

Robert E. Blankenship, 3, Dayton.

Grayson was killed early Friday near Millbury in Wood County.

Bassett died in a Findlay hospital Thursday night about three hours after his car and another crashed at a rural Hancock County intersection. Bassett's wife, Grettie, 78, was hospitalized with serious injuries. Also injured was the other driver, John Wolfe, 22, of Arcadia.

McKnight's truck was rammed at the Ohio 31-Ohio 47 intersection 11 miles north of Marysville by a car that failed to stop on slippery pavement.

Munger's small foreign car was met head-on by an auto passing a truck on Ohio 4-36 about 11 miles south of Marysville.

The Blankenship boy ran into the path of a car Thursday when called home from across the street where he had been playing in a ditch.

Keep In Trim

By IDA JEAN KAIN
Attitude Is Important

"How can I take the resistance out of staying with a diet? I start strong but in 10 days I find myself slipping. In two weeks I'm back to my old fattening ways of overeating. I guess my will is weak. I'm 40 pounds overweight and I really want to lose. Can you offer some encouragement?"

When the goal is 40 pounds off, there is no blinking the fact that it takes gumption to carry on with your reducing plans. So, what to do when the going gets tough? First, recognize you are dealing with a habit pattern. At the place where you give up on previous diet attempts, you half expect to stop trying.

PSYCHOLOGISTS point out that in any particular situation the tendency is to do the same as on the previous times. To break the habit pattern, think through the situation and try to decide why you lose interest. A willingness to do some serious thinking is a big step, for this means you want to face facts honestly. Once you catch on to why you repeat a pattern, you are in a better position to cope. Grab hold of this spine-stiffening thought: When you feel your interest slackening, give yourself a right good challenge. Say to yourself, "I'm going to fight this fat sometime, and it might as well be this very spring!" Say this out loud, looking right in the mirror. It's surprising how a challenge to yourself can pull you out of a failure rut.

By taking a positive approach you are using your will in the right way. To stay with a protective diet plan is something you want to do. Also, and this is a most important point, you have fully faced up to the fact that there is no other way to do it.

AFTER TWO weeks of controlled eating you are over the hunger - hurdle. You feel content on smaller meals. When you firmly decide that to revert to your old fattening ways of eating is no favor to yourself, you're half way home. Your attitude is more important than the 40 excess pounds to be lost!

Your greatest reward will be the experience of finding out that you can do it. It is tremendously morale - boosting to find out that you have what it takes to carry through on a commitment to yourself.

True will is harnessed to a goal. Picture the long - range view of yourself carrying on through the rough periods. Give yourself this challenge. Come on...you've got such a lot of living to do!

Irondale's Fire Department Begins Firefighting Course

Members of the Irondale volunteer fire department launched a fire fighting training course this week, according to Fire Chief Robert Lewis of Wellsville, instructor, who said several other area departments either have completed or are nearing completion of the same course.

The classes at Irondale were organized through the efforts of James Crawford, chief. Seventeen men are taking the 36-hour course covering firefighting skills and technical information covering equipment, pumps, etc.

The training is sponsored by the Trades and Industrial Vocational Education Service of the Ohio Department of Education and the Stanton Local Board of Education.

The school is approved by the Ohio Inspection Bureau, the Ohio fire marshal's office and various firemen's associations.

Three-hour classes are held weekly, but the men must do about six hours studying and reading each week, Lewis commented.

Twenty-three volunteers completed the course at the Greenford department, while eight members at Calcutta will finish next Monday.

Fourteen men will complete the course Tuesday. Twenty-three members of the Wellsville department finished Wednesday.

Reams, McIlwain Also Fire Away White Starts Swinging Political Bats At Rhodes

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — William L. White hasn't been a Democratic candidate for years, but as a Republican rival of Gov. James A. Rhodes he's sounding a whole lot like Rhodes' Democratic opponents.

Newly qualified to oppose Rhodes in the GOP gubernatorial primary May 3, White came out swinging at the Statehouse Rotunda news conference Thursday.

And with State Sen. Frazier Reams Jr. and State Rep. Harry H. McIlwain firing away from Cleveland, Chillicothe and Circleville, White sounded like a member of an anti-Rhodes chorus.

"Rhodes has the most ruthless political machine ever built in Ohio," exclaimed White, 70, of Mount Vernon.

And like Democratic gubernatorial nomination hopefuls Reams and McIlwain before him, White accused Rhodes of "managing the news like P.T. Barnum" by refusing to hold regular news conferences.

"The people are kept in the dark about the state's activities," said White.

All the taxpayer gets from the GOP administration, White said, is "propaganda" in the form of books and maps that cost $940,000 and "side show stunts" like racing around in the state's $500,000 airplane "to divert attention" from Rhodes' "failures."

Swamped about 9-1 by Rhodes in the 1962 primary, White talked this time of "taking out an injunction to postpone the primary election so I may have equal time to campaign."

White said Rhodes has a big head start because of Secretary of State Ted W. Brown's "arbitrary and unlawful" disqualification of the Knox County candidate Feb. 2. The Ohio Supreme Court overruled Brown Wednesday.

Brown and White's attorney in the suit he won, Robert Wistner of Columbus, both figured any effort to change the primary date would be futile.

Reams, meanwhile, said Ohio "cannot afford to continue its retreat" in major fields of responsibility and said if elected he would offer "a well-developed, competently researched program for getting this state moving forward on all fronts."

The Toledo Democrat said that "for the past few weeks a team of University of Toledo professors, augmented by others has been in the midst of research projects designed to pinpoint Ohio's needs and to proposed solutions to meet them."

Reams said he would "expand this team to include the most willing minds from universities in all sections of Ohio" as well as from business, labor and other groups.

McIlwain of Cincinnati talked at Circleville and Chillicothe and cited figures showing reduction in farm jobs and farm acreage over the past four years. He blamed the "farmer's plight" on high taxes and lack of education.

McIlwain pointed to the state seal with its "golden grain" symbol and questioned whether grain would be realistic "if the Republicans like Jim Rhodes continue to strip the land and drive off the hard-working farmers of today and tomorrow."

Ann Landers

ANSWERS YOUR PROBLEMS

Dear Ann Landers: I'm a 13-year-old girl with a father problem. I've always been overweight. The school nurse says I should lose 20 pounds. I've tried but I can't do it. My father has nagged me and made my life miserable over this subject for as long as I can remember.

Last night my uncle and aunt were here. I was drying the dishes when my dad called me into the living room. He had the bathroom scale in the middle of the floor. He said to my uncle, "Guess how much she weighs?"

My uncle wouldn't guess so my dad said, "She weighs 128 pounds." Then he told me to step on the scale and prove it.

My mother came in just then and told me to go back to the kitchen. I heard her tell my father he should not embarrass me like that. He has done this before and he knows it hurts my feelings but he won't stop. I need your help.—ASHAMED.

Dear Ashamed: It's too bad your dad doesn't realize that his nagging will not persuade you to lose an ounce. It will only make you eat more. Ask your mother to take you to a doctor. He will prescribe a sensible diet. You can knock off those extra pounds and I hope you will. Your teen years will be a whole lot happier and healthier.

Husband's Pension

Dear Ann: You can't believe how much trouble a monthly check for $58 can cause in a family. This is what my husband gets every month from the government for a war injury. He says the check belongs to him "to operate on" and that I can't have a dime of it.

We never have been clear of debt from the day we married. My husband gives me his whole pay check every week, so I can't fault him there. But with four little kids to feed and clothes, and dentist bills and doctor bills and car payments, we've never been able to get even, much less ahead.

The thing that bugs me is I can't figure out what he does with the $58. He charged my Mother's Day gift last May and I ended up paying for it after the store called me about the bill.

If he would give me that $58 I could get us out of debt in three months. Help, please.—THE GOOSE.

Dear Goose: Help you do what? Get the $58 away from the poor stiff so he can walk around penniless? You said he hands over his entire pay check. Now really, Lady—be reasonable.

Forget about the $58. Pretend he doesn't get it. This means, of course, you'll have to find something else to gripe about. From the sound of your letter, you'll think of something, Lady.

Unsteady Dating

Dear Ann: My mother wants me to go steady and I'm against it. I know of three girls who went the limit with steady boy friends because they were together so much one thing led to another and they couldn't help it.

My mother says the reason the divorce rate is so high is because a girl can't settle down with one man after she runs around with every Tom, Dick and Harry. Mom wants me to pick out the fellow I like best and go steady with him. Help!!—BUGGED.

Dear Bugged: Your mother is right about the divorce rate but one of the reasons there is so much divorce is because of the teen-agers who start to go steady at 14, get engaged at 16 and get married at 17. By the time they are 19 they are fed up with marriage and are eager to tell it to the judge.

Ann Landers will be glad to help you with your problems. Send them to her in care of The Review, enclosing a stamped, self-addressed envelope.

Pittsburgh Asks Court To Rescind Milk Price Boost

HARRISBURG (AP)—Despite a setback earlier this week, the city of Pittsburgh has again asked Commonwealth Court to rescind a half-cent a quart retail milk price increase in its marketing area.

City Solicitor David Stahl, former state attorney general, filed a suit Thursday asking the court to set aside the State Milk Control Commission ordered increase. Stahl also filed a separate suit as an individual.

Stahl's petition contends the price increase violates the intent and purpose of the Milk Control Law, and places an unwarranted burden on the Pittsburgh school district and pupils attending the schools.

Monday, the court refused the city's request for an injunction to halt the price increase order which went into effect Tuesday.

Judge Modifies Pinball Ruling Pending Lawsuit

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP)—An order enjoining state liquor agents from seizing and destroying pinball machines, pending the outcome of a $400,000 lawsuit, has been modified to permit destruction when the machines are used for gambling purposes.

Common Pleas Judge Dana F. Reynolds modified his order Thursday after a meeting with David Kessler, assistant attorney general, during which the state attorney explained the original restraining order went too far.

Judge Reynolds issued the order to Dixie Music Co. of Hamilton and Nicholas Music Co. of Cincinnati earlier in the week pending the outcome of the suit they filed against the Ohio Liquor Control Commission and State Liquor Director Donald D. Cook.

Cook argued that the order restrained the state from seizing pinball machines even when they are used for gambling. He also said the court order would enable the two vending machine firms to reclaim the four machines confiscated by the state.

Judge Reynolds' revised order will enable the state to retain possession of the four confiscated machines until the suit is resolved.

Bringing Up A Family

By Dr. GARRY MYERS

Good Readers Are College Prospects

If your child in the third or fourth grade is a good reader and an avid reader then and later, his chances for entering college are high.

His chances will increase if he reads for pleasure half an hour or more a day all through junior and senior high school. However, a Dr. Garry Myers few very poor readers in the grades, and even in high school, have acquired enough interest and skill in reading to qualify eventually for college, and for graduation from college. If your child in the middle grades or upper grades or high school is a poor reader and rarely reads for pleasure, he still might not be barred from college entrance. But he will be unless he makes up such arrears in reading skills and reading practice.

NEARLY all your child's learning at school from now on will depend chiefly on how well he gets meaning from the printed page—how well he reads and how much he reads for pleasure in addition to his textbook assignments. The more he reads the more he grows in vocabulary and in ease of expressing himself verbally and in writing. Many of the tests he must take, especially those for college entrance are heavily laden with languages. Consider how his having read considerably from good sources will come to his aid then.

Suppose your child now in the third, fourth or fifth grade, or in junior or senior high, is a very poor reader. Whether or not you hope he will be able later to do college work, you should miss no opportunity to find ways to help him read as well as possible. His increased skill at reading will be useful to him the rest of his life.

You might get some direct assistance from him for yourself at helping him, from his teacher, from the school psychologist, or from a private expert. Any or all of them may be able to show you how you yourself can help this poor reader at home.

WHATEVER measures you pursue will work best if you can help the child enjoy success from his efforts. You will try to find materials for him to read with comparative ease, which are easy enough for him to read with comparative ease. Usually it will have to be much easier than his regular schoolbooks. Aim to win him to practice reading from such easy material half an hour or more daily.

One of the most useful things for your child to do is to read aloud often to a much younger child. Naturally what he reads to amuse this child will be easy to read. Often I have wondered if it were not more profitable to hire a poor reader to read aloud to a child much younger than himself than to hire a tutor for him.

You may read some of his school assignments to him or with him, helping him turn each paragraph or section into a few words of his own. Besides, you should often read aloud to him from interesting materials too hard for him to read. One rule you will strive hard to observe—you will never let yourself grow vexed while trying to help him. The moment you find your voice rising or your insides stirring, count yourself unfit to be in his presence.

Washington Birthday Renamed Under Bill

BOSTON (AP)—The Massachusetts Senate has passed a bill renaming George Washington's Birthday "President's Day."

Michigan Takes Up Rhodes' Plan About Boundary

LANSING, Mich. (AP)—The Michigan Legislature has taken up Ohio Gov. James A. Rhodes' suggestion it go to the U.S. Supreme Court over a boundary dispute between the two states.

The Michigan Senate completed passage of the bill approved last month by the House instructing Atty. Gen. Frank Kelley to take the case to Washington.

Kelley said he is prepared to bring the matter, involving about 200 square miles of Lake Erie near Toledo, Ohio, to as rapid a conclusion as possible. Rhodes and Ohio Atty. Gen. William Saxbe had rejected a proposal by a Michigan legislative committee that a joint Ohio-Michigan commission establish the boundary. Ohio claimed it already has been long established. Water and lake bottom rights which could affect commercial fishing operations, and perhaps oil deposits, are at stake.

Credit cards now constitute 12 per cent of all charge accounts in the U.S., compared to 5 per cent 10 years ago.

Pirates, Orioles Picks Here . . .

We were way off the mark last season when we predicted the Cincinnati Reds and New York Yankees as pennant winners.

A new season is upon us and the baseball gets rolling Monday. We picked the St. Louis Cardinals to win the National League in 1964, and that's the last time we were right.

The 1966 season just might see close races in each league again. It may be wishful thinking on our part, but we are going out on the proverbial limb and pick the Pittsburgh Pirates to win the National League pennant and the Baltimore Orioles to take it all in the American League.

The Pirates finished strong last season and probably were the best club in the National League during the last two months. The Orioles were not hurt in any way when they acquired Frank Robinson's heavy bat from Cincinnati.

Here's the complete rundown as we see it:

NATIONAL LEAGUE	AMERICAN LEAGUE
1. Pittsburgh	1. Baltimore
2. Los Angeles	2. Minnesota
3. Cincinnati	3. Chicago
4. San Francisco	4. Cleveland
5. Atlanta	5. New York
6. Philadelphia	6. Detroit
7. St. Louis	7. California
8. Chicago	8. Boston
9. Houston	9. Kansas City
10. New York	10. Washington

'Voice Of Derby' To Visit . . .

BRYAN FIELD, sports director of the Mutual Network and former columnist for the New York Times and known as the "voice" of the Kentucky Derby for many years, will be a visitor at Waterford Park on May 2.

Field is now vice president of Delaware Park and secretary-treasurer of the Turf Publicists of America. He will accompany Pete Bonamy, Waterford Park publicity director and president of the Turf Publicists, to Louisville for the Kentucky Derby.

Field will handle all derby telecasts and color before and after the running of the derby on May 7.

SPEAKING of Waterford Park, the first week of night racing proved to be one of the most successful in the history of the track.

The largest Saturday night crowd ever to attend since lights were installed last year was on hand last Saturday when 7,091 patrons passed through the turnstiles and wagered a record night-time handle of $506,315.

This 'N That In Sports . . .

MANY FORMER softball enthusiasts of the area will remember the name of Freddie Bors, well known softball pitcher from Canton. Bors died last week of cancer. He was 55.

He made many appearances in East Liverpool. During one season, Bors averaged 18 strikeouts a game. In one doubleheader he fanned 40.

JOE MASSEY, ex-Potter baseball and basketball player, is a candidate for the Thiel College baseball team. Massey, a freshman at the Pennsylvania school, was a regular on the basketball team.

Pappas Shelled, Reds Fall, 10-4

By MURRAY CHASS
Associated Press Sports Writer

If Frank Robinson is an old 30, Milt Pappas must be an ancient 26.

Pappas was pummeled in his latest mound performance Thursday, just one day after Robinson continued his display of lusty spring hitting.

In whipping Cincinnati 10-4, the Chicago White Sox battered Pappas for nine runs and seven hits in five innings. The right-hander also walked six and threw two wild pitches.

Pappas and Robinson were the key figures in a four-player winter trade between the Reds and Baltimore. The Reds, feeling Robinson "is not a young 30," sent the slugging outfielder to the Orioles for the 26-year-old Pappas, pitcher Jack Baldschun and outfielder Dick Simpson.

Pappas called the trade "the greatest break I've ever gotten in my life" and added:

"I should win more games with a team able to get a few more runs for me. Robinson will have a harder time hitting in the big Oriole park."

Retorted Robinson:

"Wait until Pappas tries to pitch in Crosley Field. He'll find out. Bet I come out better than he does."

The season still lies ahead, but Robinson is right so far.

While he has hit eight homers, driven in 17 runs and has a .393 batting average, Pappas has been having trouble.

The veteran of eight American League seasons has pitched 34 innings this spring, given up 17 earned runs for a 4.50 earned run average, allowed 26 hits and walked 21.

That's enough to age anyone. Leading the White Sox attack against Pappas was Tommy Agee, who singled across two runs in the five-run third inning and socked a two-run homer in the four-run fourth.

Baltimore, meanwhile, defeated Minnesota in one of three 7-3 games. The Orioles erupted for five runs in the first inning as Twins' pitcher Camilo Pascual walked four.

Willie McCovey rapped four hits and Juan Marichal scattered five hits in six innings as San Francisco defeated California 7-3, and the New York Yankees stopped Pittsburgh by the same score with Whitey Ford holding the Pirates scoreless for the first six innings.

Bob Gibson turned in six strong innings in St. Louis' 6-4 victory over the New York Mets.

A sacrifice fly by Frank Bolling in the 16th inning sent home the winning run in Atlanta's 3-2 victory over Washington, and a ninth-inning bass-loaded walk to Ozzie Chavez gave Kansas City a 7-6 verdict over Philadelphia.

Home runs by Jim Gentile and John Bateman carried Houston past Detroit 6-3 and Chuck Hinton hit a bases-loaded home run to power Cleveland to a 7-5 victory over Los Angeles.

Nicklaus Grabs 3-Stroke Masters Lead

Determined To Win After Death Of Pal

AUGUSTA, Ga. (AP) — Jack Nicklaus is determined to win the Masters for a boyhood pal killed in a plane crash, and even such feared challengers as Arnold Palmer concede the defending champion will be hard to catch.

"The 68 Jack shot was damn good considering the wind," Palmer said of Nicklaus' opening charge Thursday in the 30th annual golf tournament. "If the wind dies down, it will be tough to catch him."

Nicklaus, trying to become the first to win back-to-back titles, apparently has no doubts how the tournament will go.

"The loss of Bob Barton made me determined to play well for him," Nicklaus said. "I've pretty well made up my mind how I'll play this week."

"He and I started playing golf together, and his death was a great personal loss to me," Nicklaus said of the Columbus, Ohio, friend who died in a plane crash in Tennessee along with Mrs. Barton and another couple, who were flying to Georgia to watch Nicklaus play.

Nicklaus said that he never was able to concentrate strictly on golf during the round. "I have been sick to my stomach ever since I heard about the crash," he said.

However, Nicklaus carved four strokes off par over the long Augusta National layout and took a three-stroke lead over the field.

The 26-year-old Golden Bear, who tamed the course with a record 271 a year ago for his second Masters triumph, said he was helped by some lucky breaks en route to his 68.

"Talk about luck," Nicklaus said. "I hooked my tee shot on one and it went into the ninth fairway. I hit a four iron 25 feet from the pin, and sand it for a birdie."

"On 13, I drove into the trees, but the ball went right through into the fairway, and I got another birdie."

Palmer, a four-time winner who opened with a 74, said, "The wind certainly makes the course play difficult. But I just didn't play well. I got to waving at the ball on the back nine most of the time."

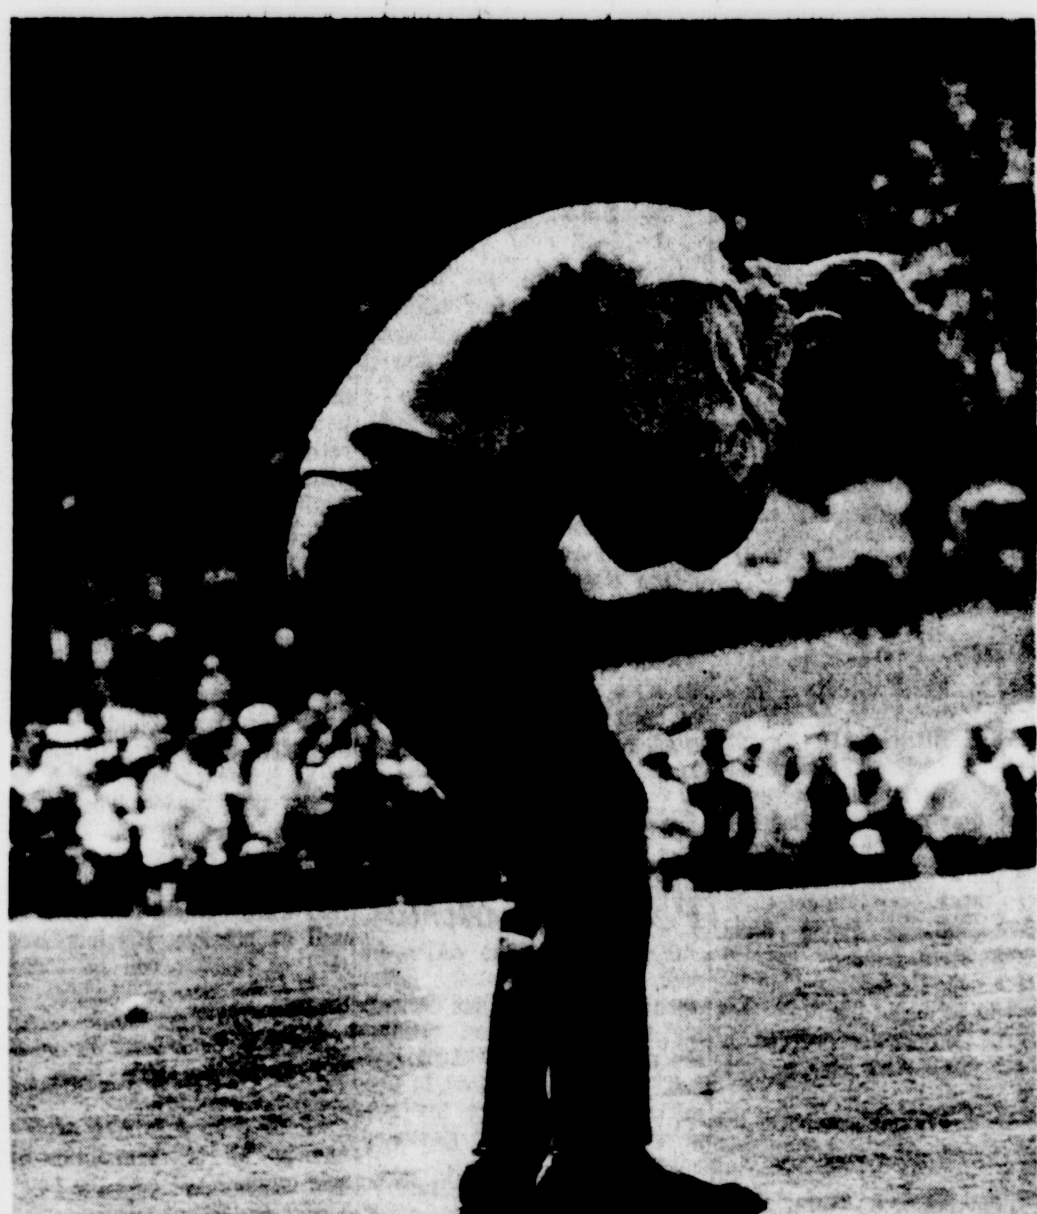

Other top names buried back in the pack with 74s were Ben Hogan, Tony Lema, Doug Sanders, Gay Brewer Jr., and Gary Player, 1961 Masters champion who was helped by what he called "the best golf shot I've ever seen."

On the par 3 12th hole, he lodged his tee shot in the mud of a bunker, then flipped the ball into the hole for a birdie.

Player said he was bothered by the wind, which baffled the field of 103 most of the day. Only five players broke par, and Nicklaus was the only golfer without a bogey.

Here's Scoreboard For Masters Tourney

Jack Nicklaus	33-35-68
Don January	34-37-71
Mike Souchak	37-34-71
Billy Casper	34-37-71
a-Charles Coe	34-37-71
Ray Floyd	37-35-72
Peter Butler	37-35-72
Jay Hebert	37-35-72
Randy Glover	36-36-72
Others:
Dow Finsterwald	35-38-73
Gary Player	36-38-74
Doug Sanders	35-39-74
Arnold Palmer	36-38-74

ARNIE PALMER, who had his troubles on the wind-whipped Augusta National course Thursday, bends in anguish as his putt for a birdie on the seventh green stops short of the cup. Palmer fired a two-over-par 74, six strokes off the pace set by first round Masters leader Jack Nicklaus. (UPI Telephoto)

Indians Sell Holdout Terry To Kansas City

CLEVELAND (AP)—Pitcher Ralph Terry, who was the last major league holdout with the Cleveland Indians, now has to bargain with the Kansas City Athletics for a 1966 contract.

The Indians sold the 30-year-old right-hander to the Athletics Thursday for $25,000 and southpaw John O'Donoghue. Terry had refused to sign for the $31,000 offered by Indians' President Gabe Paul and wanted $38,000.

Terry was reportedly in Minneapolis on a business trip when the trade was announced and could not be reached for comment. Terry's wife, Tanya, said from their home in Larned, Kan., that she talked to him on the phone and "seemed happy."

"I know he felt badly about leaving the Indians with hard feelings, but maybe it is the best for everyone," she said. "I know I was awfully happy because I like Kansas City. But I don't think they have had much chance to talk about terms so it is not all settled yet."

The Athletics said Ed Lopat, the club's executive vice president, would start negotiations immediately.

Terry, 11-6 with the Tribe last year, had signed his 1965 contract for $31,000 plus the chance to earn the $7,000 salary cut he took when coming to Cleveland from New York if he won enough games with the Indians.

RALPH TERRY Will Deal With Athletics.

After a good start last season, Manager Birdie Tebbetts used younger pitchers after Terry slumped and he claimed this move prevented him getting a chance to earn the extra $7,000.

Decision On Baseball Due During Weekend

MILWAUKEE (AP) — White-haired Circuit Judge Elmer W. Roller sealed himself in his court chambers Thursday night as he debated the fate of baseball and the Braves in Wisconsin's antitrust trial.

An armed deputy sheriff, wearing a sport shirt, stood in front of the judge's chambers. "He said not even to let his nearest relative in," said the deputy.

Roller has said he hopes to hand down a verdict Saturday or Sunday.

Wisconsin, accusing the National League of violating the state's laws against monopolies, has asked that the Braves be returned from Atlanta or that Milwaukee be given an expansion team. The Braves are scheduled to open the 1966 season in Atlanta next Tuesday.

The 38-day trial ended Wednesday. Judge Roller indicated he might eat and sleep in his chambers until he finishes writing his ruling.

"You can't let this thing go on," he said. "You've got to keep at it until the decision is out."

On the other hand, he refused to commit himself on whether he would remain in his chambers through the night.

"Why don't you come up to night at 3 a.m. and see if there is a light in the window?" the judge said Thursday afternoon. A lone light showed through the window late Thursday night, but the chambers were dark by 1 a.m. today.

AFL Owners Set To Name Foss' Successor Today

HOUSTON (AP) — American Football League team owners were expected to name a new commissioner today to succeed Joe Foss.

Foss, commissioner since the league was founded six years ago, resigned Thursday, effective immediately, without announcing his future plans.

A name mentioned prominently around league headquarters as Foss' successor was Al Davis as the owners continued executive sessions in an effort to name the new commissioner. Davis is head coach-general manager of the Oakland Raiders.

Ralph D. Wilson, league president and owner of the Buffalo Bills, declined to identify anyone under consideration saying only "we are discussing a number of candidates."

Milt Woodard, secretary-treasurer, automatically became acting commissioner but he let it be known he was not an applicant for the permanent job.

Wilson also said expansion was discussed but indicated awarding of the league's 10th franchise probably would be made later in the year. There were reports that Chicago headed the list of candidates for the site of the next franchise.

Foss announced he was resigning his $50,000 a year job as commissioner just hours after denying he planned to do so. His multi-year contract was to have expired Jan. 15, 1968.

After his resignation, Foss, 51, a former Republican governor of South Dakota, told newsmen he had several job offers but declined to elaborate. He did not completely close the door on re-entering politics.

Canadiens, Hawks Win In Stanley Cup Play

By The Associated Press
Big Jean Beliveau of the Montreal Canadiens and Bobby Hull, the Chicago Black Hawks' Blond Bomber, were hockey heroes in their hometowns today after sending their teams into the leads in the National Hockey League's Stanley Cup semifinals.

Beliveau, named the outstanding player during Montreal's winning Cup performance last year, scored with 2:12 left to play and gave the Canadiens a 4-3 victory over Toronto in their opening game at the Montreal Forum Thursday night.

Hull, who scored a record-breaking 54 goals the past regular season, produced the pivotal goal in the Hawks' 2-1 triumph over Detroit in their first semifinal game in Chicago Stadium.

Beliveau beat Toronto goalie Terry Sawchuk at 17:48 of the final period after Claude Provost's shot had been blocked by a Toronto defenseman.

Bob Pulford had pulled the Leafs even midway through the third period when his 50-foot slap shot sizzled past the right shoulder of Gump Worsley in the Canadiens' nets.

J. C. Tremblay, John Ferguson and Bobby Rousseau scored the other Montreal goals while Eddie Shack and Frank Mahovlich also registered for the Leafs.

Toronto thought it had scored the tying goal with only 10 seconds left in the game when Dave Keon put the puck in the net. However, the officials ruled that Keon was offside on the play.

Hull's goal came on a power play midway in the first period. He took a pass from Chico Maki and deftly sent it past Detroit netminder Roger Crozier.

The tally lifted Hull to within four of the league record total of goals counting regular season and playoffs. Beliveau set the mark in 1955-56 when he scored 47 in season and 12 in the Cup competition.

76ers Gain 1st Victory In Playoffs

PHILADELPHIA (AP) — "Well, we still have the edge," said Boston Celtics' Coach Red Auerbach.

"And we're still the underdog any way you look at it," said Dolph Schayes, coach of the Philadelphia 76ers.

These were almost the hottest post-mortem comments as the two coaches surveyed the results of Thursday night's 111-105 Philadelphia victory, its first in the finals of the National Basketball Association's Eastern Division.

It cut the Celts' lead to 2-1 in the best-of-seven series that will be resumed Sunday in Boston. That's how it stands also in the NBA's Western Division where the Los Angeles Lakers have the 2-1 edge over St. Louis with the next game Saturday night in St. Louis.

Schayes, whose 76ers beat Boston six out of 10 in regular season play, said he feels Philadelphia "finally has come out of its slump, but —" and he paused for emphasis: "You can't take these Celtics for granted. We've got to fight every game every inch of the way."

The tally lifted Hull to within four of the league record total of

Hinton Stars As Tribe Wins 8th Straight

SAN DIEGO, Calif. (AP) — Manager Birdie Tebbetts calls it "winning attitude." Cleveland Indians President Gabe Paul says it's "momentum."

Whatever the label, the Tribe has been winning consistently—eight in a row—including three straight over the World Champion Los Angeles Dodgers.

Chuck Hinton's bases-loaded home run in the third inning was the big blow for the Indians, who beat the Dodgers 7-5 Thursday night and now have come from behind in the last three games to win.

The Dodgers scored an unearned run in the first inning but the Indians came back with six in the third, including Hinton's blast.

The Tribe rapped six hits in the third off starter Claude Osteen, the Dodgers opening day pitcher. Larry Brown and Joe Azcue singled and Tom Kelley beat out a bunt.

Dick Howster walked, forcing in a run, and Vic DaValillo singled for another. Then Hinton connected.

Kelley gave up two runs in the third before Sonny Siebert took over. Siebert retired the Dodgers in the fourth but Willie Davis cracked a homer in the fifth.

Los Angeles made it 6-5 on Jim LeFevbre's single and a double by Lou Johnson. Don McMahon replaced Siebert and Steve Hargan came on in the seventh.

The Indians scored their last run in the eighth when DaValillo singled, stole second and scored on Rocky Colavito's double off the left field fence.

History Repeats

SEATTLE, Wash. (AP) — Lighting may not strike twice in the same place, but wayward airplanes sometimes do. For the second time in 17 years the frame house at 947 S. Vale St. was damaged recently by a plane. No one inside the house was injured in the latest intrusion when a single engine plane piloted by a student plunged through the side of the residence. The same home was damaged in 1949 when a passenger plane crashed while taking off from Boeing Field.

Capitol University Coach Will Speak At Wellsville

Gene Slaughter, head football coach at Capitol University of Columbus, will be the guest speaker at the all sports banquet of the Omni Boosters Club of Wellsville May 5 at 6:30 o'clock in the First Methodist Church.

Slaughter formerly was an assistant at Ohio State University and before that was head coach at Warren High School where he turned out winning teams.

Final plans for the annual affair, open to the public, were made at a meeting Wednesday night in the high school. Participants in all sports, cheer leaders, a city official. Lowell Myers, superintendent of schools, will be among the guests.

Trophies will be presented by the Omni Boosters Club, Knights of Columbus and Jaycees. Jack Glover is making the favors. Tickets may be purchased from any Booster Club member.

TOM! SUPPER'S READY!

I READ YOU LOUD AND CLEAR!

THE MIRACLE INSIDE TOM'S HEAD

HEARINGS

QUESTION: What happens inside the ear?

ANSWER: As our picture suggests, Tom has a strange little coiled object resembling a sea shell, the cochlea, which is located inside his head behind his ears. Inside this cochlea, sound vibrations are changed to nerve signals which flash to his brain. You have such a cochlea, too, connected with your outer ear. Here, every briefly, is how the system works. First, the outer ear gathers in the sound waves, such as those from the voice of Tom's mother. These waves move down a passage which is lined with hairs and wax to prevent insects and dirt from getting in. These sound waves vibrate a kind of drum head, the ear drum. Three little bones, one shaped like a hammer, one like an anvil and one like a stirrup, carry the vibrations further inward. The stirrup connects with the shell-like cochlea, which has a fluid inside its coils. The stirrup vibrates this fluid, which sets many minute hairs into action. The hairs, connected with nerve endings, start nerve impulses which travel to a hearing center in the brain. Here, through a mysterious process, the sound is re-created. Tom suddenly hears his mother's voice—"Suppers' ready!"

First, the outer ear gathers in the sound waves, such as those from the voice of Tom's mother. These waves move down a passage which is lined with hairs and wax to prevent insects and dirt from getting in. These sound waves vibrate a kind of drum head, the ear drum. Three little bones, one shaped like a hammer, one like an anvil and one like a stirrup, carry the vibrations further inward. The stirrup connects with the shell-like cochlea, which has a fluid inside its coils. The stirrup vibrates this fluid, which sets many minute hairs into action. The hairs, connected with nerve endings, start nerve impulses which travel to a hearing center in the brain. Here, through a mysterious process, the sound is re-created. Tom suddenly hears his mother's voice—"Suppers' ready!"

FOR YOU TO DO: Take a good look at the cross section at the top which shows where that important little ear drum is located. If one stuck a pencil far enough down the ear passage it would puncture the ear drum. Remember this: "Don't stick anything into the ear smaller than your elbow."

Girl's Guide Unmasks Dating Habits Of Collegians

NEW YORK (AP)—A college girl's guide called "Where The Boys Are" unmasks the dating habits of male collegians, but from Dartmouth to Rutgers the boys aren't going along with the appraisal.

In the words of one Princeton junior, Bruce McConnell, 21, of Pasadena, Calif., "if the young ladies don't like us, they really don't have to go out with us."

The 32-page book offering dating advice to college girls was compiled by staffs of student newspapers at Smith and Mt. Holyoke Colleges for women.

Tartly written to plunge daggers into the male ego, it is a reply to a book published last year at Princeton in which the boys had their say about the girls. That one was entitled "Where The Girls Are."

"Where The Boys Are" was written by two Amherst College seniors, Thomas G. Plate of Farmingdale, N.Y., and J. Aaron Latham of Tucson, Ariz.

"The boys provided the courage and raised the money to get the book published and we provided the information," said Marsha Cohen, 19, a Smith coed.

Said Plate: "We felt the girls needed a defender."

Latham said, "We met and listened to them gab about the guys they've dated — and then sat down and wrote."

Here are some sample passages from "Where The Boys Are" and how they were greeted by the men:

Princeton: "The only place in the world where when a boy and his date walk past a mirror, it's the boy who stops to comb his hair."

Reaction: "A little more hair combing might be in order for a lot of schools around here, both the male and female variety," said Princetonian Frank Warren, 20, junior, of Danville, Va.

Harvard: "Always remember that if the Harvardman you're dating is wearing a three-piece suit as you walk into the Brattle Theater, he's wondering how you'll look next to him at some diplomatic reception in 10 years."

Reaction: "They're oriented toward finding husbands and they're pleased to believe we're thinking about what concerns them," replied John Gerhart, a Harvard senior from Abilene, Tex.

Columbia: "If you want to do the junior sophisticate bit around Morningside Heights, the Columbia boy is not for you, but don't take him for a pushover; anyone who's had to fight his way into a subway is tougher than any flimsy Ivy."

Reaction: "At Columbia the subways may be on strike, the electricity may be off and the water rationed, but after all, eight million people live in this city. We must be doing something right!" retorted Columbian Robert Merlis, 18, of Brooklyn.

Dartmouth: "The Dartmouth man is a masochist. He's marooned in the wilds of New Hampshire — so when another voice (yours), soft, charming, feminine, finally arrives, the timber wolf is bound to pounce."

Reaction: "The image of a Dartmouth man as a sex-hungry animal is inculcated in freshmen girls and is not founded on fact. It is what they want to believe."

Rutgers: "Berkeley east. That's what you date will think Rutgers is. He'll even try to dress the part. California jeans and longish, surfing hair."

Reaction: "The best generalization about Rutgers men is 'apathetic.' They gripe about everything but don't do anything about it," said Rutgers sophomore Joe Brezin, 18, of Fair Lawn, N.J.

Most men agreed with A. G. Kasselberg, 20, Princeton junior from Memphis, Tenn., who said "men will take this about as seriously as 'Where The Girls Are,' that is to say not at all."

However, one voice in the wilderness was raised by Allan Carl, 20, a Columbia junior from Little Rock, Ark.

"The girls are right. I know that all along. Half the guys I know are like that."

Union Vote Stated On Pact Ratification

CINCINNATI (AP) — Union members are to vote Monday on whether to ratify a proposal to end their 66-day strike at the U.S. Printing & Lithograph Division of U.S. Printing Corp. in Norwood.

Who's Greatest Now? Clay's Ex-Wife Asks

MIAMI, Fla. (AP) — "Who's the greatest now?" asked Sonji Clay, shapely former wife of the world's heavyweight boxing champion.

She promptly announced: "I am, Me."

She collected $2,750 from her ex-husband Cassius Thursday, and the champion was spared a 30-day jail term. He also saved some tax money and paid out $23,500 in legal fees.

A warrant had been issued for Clay's arrest on a contempt of court charge. Had he failed to provide the money, back alimony, the warrant would have been used.

And his former wife had said she would not sign a joint 1965 tax return without the alimony in hand. This would have upped Clay's tax bill by $78,000, according to Lawrence Huffman, Sonji's attorney.

Unidentified friends of the champion provided $26,250. This included alimony for the two months since Clay's divorce at $1,250 a month, legal fees of $22,500 for the divorce case, $1,000 more in legal fees for two hearings Clay didn't attend, and $250 for Sonji's expenses in returning to Miami for court action.

Clay had until 5:30 p.m. Thursday to come up with the money under an agreement worked out Tuesday when two deputy sheriffs were looking for Clay with the arrest warrant. The money was transferred about 3:30 p.m.

Clay apparently had trouble raising the money because his share of the last two title fights is tied up in litigation.

Canada is holding Clay's share of the purse for his bout last month in Toronto with George Chuvalo until a tax audit is completed.

How To Dodge The Draft Instructions Are Offered

COLUMBUS, Ohio (AP) — A campaign designed to teach college students how to dodge the draft has been launched openly at Ohio State University.

The campaign was undertaken by three groups which denounced the war in Viet Nam in a lengthy statement tied in with the conscientious objector move.

In a paid advertisement appearing in OSU's student newspaper Thursday, the three groups said in part:

"If you are draft age the Selective Service law provides exemption from combat training or duty or all military duty for some conscientious objectors. If you are conscientiously opposed to participation in war in any form, and are interested in learning more about alternatives and civilian service, come to a discussion April 10."

The advertisement appeared on behalf of groups calling themselves the Student Religious Liberals, The Young Friends, and The Young Friends of Peace.

Alfred Ferdi, the Lantern's business manager, emphasized the newspaper does not endorse the advertisement which he said was paid for by John Perrera, 31-year-old Arts College sophomore.

Ohio Selective Service officials said they would study the advertisement before commenting on its contents. One official noted that it takes more than a mere declaration of being a conscientious objector to avoid induction.

He added that the normal procedure calls for a Federal Bureau of Investigation probe into the individual's background.
